Attack On Cuba Will Mean War, Gromyko Says

Adlai Replies Soviet Buildup Peace Threat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union sounded a warning Friday in the United Nations that U.S. attack on Cuba means war. The United States promptly replied that the Soviet Union is threatening peace by supplying military aid to Cuba.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko delivered the warning in a major policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly in which he lashed out at President Kennedy and U.S. policy toward Cuba.

In words directed at both Gromyko and the Cuban representatives in the assembly, Stevenson said:

"We are not taking and will not take offensive action in this hemisphere, neither will we permit aggression in this hemisphere."

He declared that the right of the United States to defend its security is "anchored in the U.N. charter."

Arms Flood "Unnecessary"

"The threat to peace in Cuba comes not from the United States but from the Soviet Union," he said.

"The threat arises from the extraordinary and unnecessary flood of Soviet arms and military personnel pouring into Cuba. It is this foreign military intervention in the Western Hemisphere which is creating grave concern not only in this country, but throughout the hemisphere."

"For what purpose is this great military buildup in Cuba intended?" he asked.

"If the Soviet Union genuinely desires to keep the peace in the Caribbean let it stop this warlike posturing, this stuffing of Cuba with rockets, military aircraft, advanced electronic equipment and other armament all out of proportion to any legitimate needs."

Gromyko accused some U.S. political leaders of displaying a "flippant attitude" to the question of war and peace in regard to the situation in Cuba.

Sept. 11 Statement Recalled

"An attack on Cuba," he said, "would have implications about which the Soviet government warned the whole world in the well-known statement issued on Sept. 11, 1962."

In that statement, the Soviet government declared flatly that if an attack is launched on Cuba "this will be the beginning of the unleashing of war."

He assailed President Kennedy's statement of Sept. 13 that the United States will do whatever must be done if the Communist buildup in Cuba endangers U.S. security.

"Were we to agree that the principles laid down by the President of the United States... this would lead straight to the disintegration of the United Nations, and the United Nations will be killed if this policy prevails."

Labor Leader Dubinsky Takes Over At Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, gave a convincing demonstration Friday of how to confound a congressional investigating committee.

Called to answer charges of racial discrimination in his union, Dubinsky took charge at the outset and turned members of a House Labor subcommittee into a rapt audience.

The short, 70-year-old union leader shook his fingers at the members, rose to his feet in impassioned oratory, asked his own questions when he didn't like those put to him, rebuked members whose attention lagged, shouted orders to a platoon of aides for documents he wanted—and emphatically denied all charges against the union.

Dubinsky's answers, frequently long, often fiery and always delivered in fractured English occasionally spiced with Yiddish, sometimes left the members impatient.

When one complained Dubinsky wagged his finger at him and said: "I can't answer you until I explain you."

When he was asked how many Negroes hold office higher than business agent in his 450,000-member union, Dubinsky bristled.

"That's an unfair question," he said. "I'll ask the questions on this. And I'll give the answers. Ask me how many Americans I got on my executive board."

Pressed, he said no Negroes hold high union office but that this is due to their failure to put themselves forward.

In one emotion-packed declaration after another, he denied there is any discrimination against Negroes in the union.

"We're all minorities there. I'm a member of a minority. And minorities oppose any restrictions on each other, any class legislation," he said.

Rusk Urges Senate Wipe Out Aid Cuts

Secretary Blasts House-Voted Cuba Traffic Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk made a vigorous appeal Friday to the Senate to reverse deep House cuts in foreign aid. He described the cuts as dangerous and unwise economy.

He also urged that the Senate knock out a House amendment to cut off foreign aid to any country whose ships carry goods of any kind to Communist Cuba.

"That's the kind of amendment that puts us in a straitjacket and makes it more difficult to do our job along with our allies," Rusk said. "It's very important that this amendment come out."

Senate Probe Ordered

As Rusk voiced this plea, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., ordered a preliminary Senate investigation in the Cuban armstraffic. Magnuson told a reporter he believed Congress would consider amending the foreign aid bill to require that "we take a good look" at aid going to any government that compels its seamen to sail ships carrying munitions to Cuba.

Magnuson said he had instructed the staff of his Senate Commerce Committee to make a preliminary inquiry to identify ships of all flags engaged in this traffic.

Rusk went before the Senate Appropriations Committee to make a last-chance personal appeal against a $1.124 billion cut to $3.630 billion in foreign aid funds voted Thursday by the House.

Bill Slashed $1.4 Billion

The over-all bill, a catchall which provides money also for such things as the Peace Corps and monetary funds not under Rusk's department, was slashed $1.4 billion to $5.9 billion.

Initial reaction in the committee to Rusk's plea indicated that a substantial part of the money would be restored, but not all of it. Rusk conceded that "There is not too much prospect of getting the full amount" requested.

The committee ended hearings on the bill Friday and expects to vote on it next Wednesday or Thursday.

Soviet Calls For Disarm Declaration

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union asked the U.N. General Assembly on Friday to adopt a formal declaration calling for the conversion of arms race resources to peaceful purposes.

The Soviet declaration said general and complete disarmament would free about $120 billion in military expenditures for peaceful purposes.

These funds, the Soviet Union said, would enable underdeveloped nations to overcome their backwardness in this generation and approach the production level of Western Europe in the next 20 or 25 years.

The declaration urged all states to intensify their efforts to achieve general and complete disarmament and asked acting Secretary General U Thant to begin the necessary consultations on an expanded air program without waiting for a disarmament treaty.

Orbital Flight Delayed Until Oct. 3 Or Later

WASHINGTON (AP) — The six-orbit flight of astronaut Walter Schirra has been postponed until Oct. 3, or later, the space agency announced Friday.

The most ambitious of U.S. manned space flights had been tentatively set for Sept. 28 but is being delayed because of the discovery of a malfunction in the Mercury space capsule control system, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration disclosed.

NASA said discovery earlier Friday of the malfunction of the system has necessitated rescheduling "for no earlier than October 3."

NASA said:

"A malfunction in a selector valve of the spacecraft's altitude control system was discovered in the course of preflight preparation for the Mercury Atlas 8 mission today.

"The launch, tentatively scheduled for Sept. 28, has been rescheduled for no earlier than Oct. 3."

The altitude control system is the system that controls the spacecraft's position in flight—that is, overcoming pitch, yaw and roll.

Officials said the malfunction will necessitate removing the spacecraft from atop its Atlas launching rocket at Cape Canaveral, Fla., since the apparatus involved is located deep inside the capsule.

They added it will require "taking off a lot of other things" to get at it.

India, Chinese Troops Clash

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian and Chinese Communist border troops clashed Thursday night in the sharpest reported incident in three years along India's tense northeast frontier.

Both India and Red China told of the fighting. An Indian spokesman said three Indians were wounded. A Peiping broadcast said a Chinese officer was killed and another Chinese wounded.

The Indian spokesman also made public an exchange of notes in which Red China rejected an Indian invitation to preliminary border talks. The spokesman accused the Chinese of using the issue of talks as a cover for new aggressive military moves in the Himalayas.

The latest outbreak in a long series of Indian-Chinese incidents was near a village variously known as Dhola, Tsedong or Chedong. The area lies 900 miles east of disputed Ladakh, another border hot spot.

House Unit Approves Drug Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee approved Friday night a bill to tighten safety and effectiveness provisions of regulations governing drug sales.

The committee acted quickly in an effort to get the bill to the House before adjournment. The Senate already has enacted a drug-control act and the two bills must be reconciled if passage is to be completed in this session.

Argentine President Orders Strife Ended, Fires Two Generals

Guido Indicates Switch To Rebels

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido dramatically asserted his authority over warring Argentine army factions Friday night and ordered an end to hostilities that threatened to engulf the nation in civil war.

Bounding back after a siege of fatigue, the 52-year-old president publicly fired two loyalist army generals who had been named by rebels as part of a military clique that planned a military dictatorship in this key South American nation.

Guido's announcement in a nationwide radio address gave indication he was switching his allegiance to rebel forces.

The chief of the military rebels, Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, broadcast a warning to loyalist troops in the Buenos Aires area to surrender or face air bombardment.

The warning was ignored, however, and Ongania's deadline passed without incident.

Guido, making round-the-clock efforts to settle the four-day struggle among the army generals, collapsed at Government House.

He was attended by Dr. Tiburcio Padilla, public health minister and a heart specialist. It was not known whether Guido had suffered heart trouble or simply fatigue.

The rebel radio issued Ongania's proclamation as loyalist columns were converging between Villa Rosas and Pilar outside the city.

Friends said Guido was baffled after seven months of trying to reconcile differences among the military commanders who ousted his friend, Arturo Frondizi, from the presidency.

Guido holds the powers of a strong man but has the spirit of a compromiser.

Within a few hours after he proclaimed a cease-fire, rival army commanders opened up a new battle of communiques that left the president where he was when the crisis erupted four days ago—only this time leaning toward the rebels favoring strict constitutional government and elections as soon as possible.

There were reports of shooting in Florencio Varela, a quiet suburban town south of the capital. The reports could not be confirmed.

Henning Appointed To Labor Dept. Post

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy Friday night picked John F. Henning of San Francisco, a longtime California labor leader who now is director of the State Industrial Relations Department, to be undersecretary of labor.

Henning will take the spot left by the promotion of W. Willard Wirtz to the Cabinet position. Wirtz was named after Kennedy chose former Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg for a Supreme Court appointment.

The announcement of the choice of Henning was made by the acting presidential press secretary, Andrew T. Hatcher, after an airport briefing here following Kennedy's arrival by helicopter from Newport, R.I., for a visit with his father.

Soviet Stages Another A-Test In Atmosphere

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another Soviet nuclear explosion in the atmosphere Friday was reported by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC said the detonation in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya had a yield of "a few megatons." A megaton is the blast force of a million tons of TNT.

The Uppsala, Sweden, Seismological Institute had reported the blast earlier and estimated it at nine megatons.

Nine Survive Shooting Down Of U.N. Plane

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—A United Nations airliner that crashed in north Katanga Thursday was shot down, a U.N. military source said Friday. One of the 10 Swedes aboard was killed and five were injured, three by bullets.

There was no immediate identification of the gunners, who brought down the twin-engine Dakota during a storm.

A message to this capital of secessionist Katanga from a U.N. helicopter that reached the scene indicated the plane was surrounded by troops of the Congolese National Army when it was found in flat open country.

The cockpit of the plane was not hit and neither the pilot, a Maj. Lungkvist, nor copilot, William Nilson, was injured, the U.N. source said. Lungkvist and Nilson are Swedish officers serving with the U.N. Congo Command.

The remaining survivors and the body of the dead Swede were flown by helicopter to Kamina.

The crash occurred a year after U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who also was a Swede, and 15 others persons died in a crash near Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, while on a Congo peace mission.

Exodus Looms When Chlorine Barge Raised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government warned up to 80,000 Louisiana and Mississippi residents Friday that they faced an unprecedented potential danger when efforts are made to raise 1,100 tons of deadly chlorine from the bottom of the Mississippi River.

While stressing that no accident was expected, federal agencies moved helicopters and gas masks into a six-county area to help in possible evacuation when salvage operations begin on a barge that sank while carrying the compressed liquid chlorine.

"The situation is without precedent in the history of our country in terms of potential hazard and size," said Edward A. McDermott, director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

McDermott said evacuation plans were up to the states but that current discussions dealt with a possible exodus from Natchez, Miss., largest city in the area. He said it was possible Mississippi and Louisiana would call out the National Guard to help handle any evacuation.

Officials feared a possible leak in tanks holding the gas during the salvage operations. If the compressed liquid combined with the river's water, they said, it would create highly poisonous chlorine gas of the type used in World War I.

The barge sank on March 23, 1961, near Morville, La., about 7½ miles south of Natchez. At President Kennedy's direction, the Office of Emergency Planning is coordinating a plan to remove the deadly gas from the river.

The Corps of Engineers is in charge of the actual salvage. No date has been set yet for the start of operations but final plans are expected to be made at a meeting in Vicksburg, Miss., Saturday.

Three Held Not Guilty Of Contempt

Powerless To Stop Negro's Rejection, U.S. Judge Rules

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize cleared three University of Mississippi officials of contempt charges Friday in the James H. Meredith desegregation case.

The judge held that "all powers were vested solely and conclusively in the board of trustees," and not officials of the university.

The faces of the three defendants — Chancellor John D. Williams, liberal arts Dean Arthur B. Lewis, and registrar Robert B. Ellis—broke into wide smiles when the judge ruled at the end of a three-hour hearing.

The 13 members of the state college board — named by the judge as the ones with the real power in the matter—are scheduled for a hearing themselves on contempt charges in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans Monday.

Governor Barred Negro

The Justice Department moved against both groups — the three school officials and the trustees —in the wake of Gov. Ross Barnett's refusal to register the 29-year-old Negro Thursday.

Barnett, clothed in the authority of the state college board and acting as registrar, handled the matter personally in a meeting with Meredith on the campus.

In turning away Meredith, he defied the orders of three federal courts—ranging all the way up to the U.S. Supreme Court — that Meredith must be admitted and 114 years of segregation at the institution must fall.

Despite the fact that the 64-year-old governor took it upon himself to reject Meredith's application, the Justice Department ignored him completely in aiming its legal counter-punches. Instead it sought contempt citations against the persons actually named in the court order — the university officials and the board members.

Officials Powerless

The defense based its case on a contention that the three university officials were powerless to stop the rejection of Meredith —a contention the judge accepted.

"These men have not consciously disobeyed the court," attorney Fred B. Smith said at the outset of the hearing. "It was done by others, not by them."

He pinned the final decision on the governor: "He alone denied the admission."

Government attorneys, headed by Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, argued that the university officials "should have taken stronger steps to insure the resignation of Meredith."

Mize is the judge who three times denied Meredith a court order for admission to the university and finally ordered it on direction of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Cuba Resolution Change Barred

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders blocked Friday any rewriting of the congressional "fight-if-we-must" resolution on Cuba.

They won a rule barring amendments when the resolution comes up for House action next Wednesday, despite demands by some members that tougher language be used toward the Communist rulers in Moscow and Havana.

This means the House will vote on the same resolution passed Thursday by the Senate as part of the move to convince the world of this nation's solid determination to use whatever means are needed to prevent Communist aggression from its Cuban base against any neighbor.

The Rules Committee action came as the Kennedy administration sought to shake off what Secretary of State Dean Rusk called a straitjacket amendment the House inserted in the foreign aid bill.

"It's very important that this amendment come out," Rusk told reporters.

He referred to a House rider designed to cut off U.S. aid to any country whose ships carry goods of any kind to Cuba. It was attached to the administration's foreign aid appropriation shortly before the House approved the bill Thursday night.

Aging Stravinsky Returns To Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Igor Stravinsky, famed Russian-born American composer, returned to his native land Friday after 52 years absence.

The 80-year-old musician, accompanied by his wife, Vera, flew to Moscow for a three-week concert and sightseeing tour.

"I am happy to be back on Russian soil," said the aging composer, after tottering through a crush of newsmen and Russians who greeted him as he stepped from his aircraft.

Stravinsky is to give a total of six concerts here and in Leningrad, the former czarist capital of St. Petersburg where he was born.

Day Of Robot Housewife Visualized By Scientist

LONDON (AP)—A British scientist predicted Friday that man will one day invent a robot that will do all of woman's tiresome housework.

He is Prof. Meredith Thring of Sheffield University, who is married and has three children.

"We have gone no further than the halfway stage" in the industrial revolution, he said in an interview.

"This has led a number of inventors to seriously look into the possibility of making a fool-proof, 100 per cent robot housewife."

Mentioning vacuum cleaners, washing machines, floor polishers, and automatic dishwashers, he said: "Yet the average British housewife of 1962 works harder than her Victorian counterpart. She works so hard that her husband often feels compelled to help her."

Thring, a professor of chemical engineering, said it's too early to discuss how far he's gotten with the project, but he visualizes a robot about the size of a small woman—a machine that could be rigged to make beds, set tables and do cleaning chores.

"It would be able to get around the house, including going up and down stairs by itself," he explained. "It would have arms and hands for removing and replacing various objects.

"It would have a built-in computer and a memory. It could be trained to know the geography of a house."

There's one hitch. He said it would take about 10 years to develop at a cost of $2.8 million.

Zuckert Sees Defensive Spacecraft Development

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert warned Friday of "possible threats to our security" from space levels at which the Soviet Union operates.

He suggested that the X15 and X20 rocket planes may lead to craft which could combat such a threat. Another possibility, he said, "might be the permanently manned orbital space station designed for military purposes."

The possible threat, Zuckert told the Air Force Association convention, is in the "near orbital stage of space." This area, in which most present-day satellites whirl, is within 100 miles or so of the earth's surface.

Zuckert said the recent Soviet feat of placing two spacecraft in close orbits "seemed to indicate the need" for development of such weapons.

The X15 rocket plane already has reached an altitude of almost 60 miles in flights from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Eventually it may go as high as 75 miles —or even 100 miles with modification.

The X20 Dyna-Soar is scheduled to begin manned flights into 100-mile-high orbit in 1965, boosted from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by a Titan III rocket now under development.

Zuckert said both the Air Force and the secretary of defense recognize the need for a standardized workhorse launch vehicle.

"That is why the Titan III project was recently approved and we are giving it our wholehearted support," he said.

The chief of the military rebels, Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, broadcast a warning to loyalist troops in the Buenos Aires area to surrender or face air bombardment.

The warning was ignored, however, and Ongania's deadline passed without incident.

Guido, making round-the-clock efforts to settle the four-day struggle among the army generals, collapsed at Government House.

He was attended by Dr. Tiburcio Padilla, public health minister and a heart specialist. It was not known whether Guido had suffered heart trouble or simply fatigue.

The rebel radio issued Ongania's proclamation as loyalist columns were converging between Villa Rosas and Pilar outside the city.

Friends said Guido was baffled after seven months of trying to reconcile differences among the military commanders who ousted his friend, Arturo Frondizi, from the presidency.

Guido holds the powers of a strong man but has the spirit of a compromiser.

Within a few hours after he proclaimed a cease-fire, rival army commanders opened up a new battle of communiques that left the president where he was when the crisis erupted four days ago—only this time leaning toward the rebels favoring strict constitutional government and elections as soon as possible.

There were reports of shooting in Florencio Varela, a quiet suburban town south of the capital. The reports could not be confirmed.

Henning Appointed To Labor Dept. Post

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)— President Kennedy Friday night picked John F. Henning of San Francisco, a longtime California labor leader who now is director of the State Industrial Relations Department, to be undersecretary of labor.

Henning will take the spot left by the promotion of W. Willard Wirtz to the Cabinet position. Wirtz was named after Kennedy chose former Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg for a Supreme Court appointment.

The announcement of the choice of Henning was made by the acting presidential press secretary, Andrew T. Hatcher, after an airport briefing here following Kennedy's arrival by helicopter from Newport, R.I., for a visit with his father.

Soviet Stages Another A-Test In Atmosphere

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another Soviet nuclear explosion in the atmosphere Friday was reported by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC said the detonation in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya had a yield of "a few megatons." A megaton is the blast force of a million tons of TNT.

The Uppsala, Sweden, Seismological Institute had reported the blast earlier and estimated it at nine megatons.

Nine Survive Shooting Down Of U.N. Plane

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—A United Nations airliner that crashed in north Katanga Thursday was shot down, a U.N. military source said Friday. One of the 10 Swedes aboard was killed and five were injured, three by bullets.

There was no immediate identification of the gunners, who brought down the twin-engine Dakota during a storm.

A message to this capital of secessionist Katanga from a U.N. helicopter that reached the scene indicated the plane was surrounded by troops of the Congolese National Army when it was found in flat open country.

The cockpit of the plane was not hit and neither the pilot, a Maj. Lungkvist, nor copilot, William Nilson, was injured, the U.N. source said. Lungkvist and Nilson are Swedish officers serving with the U.N. Congo Command.

The remaining survivors and the body of the dead Swede were flown by helicopter to Kamina.

The crash occurred a year after U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who also was a Swede, and 15 others persons died in a crash near Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, while on a Congo peace mission.

Exodus Looms When Chlorine Barge Raised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government warned up to 80,000 Louisiana and Mississippi residents Friday that they faced an unprecedented potential danger when efforts are made to raise 1,100 tons of deadly chlorine from the bottom of the Mississippi River.

While stressing that no accident was expected, federal agencies moved helicopters and gas masks into a six-county area to help in possible evacuation when salvage operations begin on a barge that sank while carrying the compressed liquid chlorine.

"The situation is without precedent in the history of our country in terms of potential hazard and size," said Edward A. McDermott, director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

McDermott said evacuation plans were up to the states but that current discussions dealt with a possible exodus from Natchez, Miss., largest city in the area. He said it was possible Mississippi and Louisiana would call out the National Guard to help handle any evacuation.

Officials feared a possible leak in tanks holding the gas during the salvage operations. If the compressed liquid combined with the river's water, they said, it would create highly poisonous chlorine gas of the type used in World War I.

The barge sank on March 23, 1961, near Morville, La., about 7½ miles south of Natchez. At President Kennedy's direction, the Office of Emergency Planning is coordinating a plan to remove the deadly gas from the river.

The Corps of Engineers is in charge of the actual salvage. No date has been set yet for the start of operations but final plans are expected to be made at a meeting in Vicksburg, Miss., Saturday.

Lockheed Machinist Strike Headed Off

WASHINGGTON (UPI) — A strike set for Saturday at Lockheed Aircraft Corp. was headed off Friday when the company and the International Association of Machinist (IAM) agreed to a temporary extension of the existing labor - management contract.

Three Held Not Guilty Of Contempt

Powerless To Stop Negro's Rejection, U.S. Judge Rules

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize cleared three University of Mississippi officials of contempt charges Friday in the James H. Meredith desegregation case.

The judge held that "all powers were vested solely and conclusively in the board of trustees," and not officials of the university.

The faces of the three defendants — Chancellor John D. Williams, liberal arts Dean Arthur B. Lewis, and registrar Robert B. Ellis—broke into wide smiles when the judge ruled at the end of a three-hour hearing.

The 13 members of the state college board — named by the judge as the ones with the real power in the matter—are scheduled for a hearing themselves on contempt charges in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans Monday.

Governor Barred Negro

The Justice Department moved against both groups — the three school officials and the trustees —in the wake of Gov. Ross Barnett's refusal to register the 29-year-old Negro Thursday.

Barnett, clothed in the authority of the state college board and acting as registrar, handled the matter personally in a meeting with Meredith on the campus.

In turning away Meredith, he defied the orders of three federal courts—ranging all the way up to the U.S. Supreme Court — that Meredith must be admitted and 114 years of segregation at the institution must fall.

Despite the fact that the 64-year-old governor took it upon himself to reject Meredith's application, the Justice Department ignored him completely in aiming its legal counter-punches. Instead it sought contempt citations against the persons actually named in the court order — the university officials and the board members.

Officials Powerless

The defense based its case on a contention that the three university officials were powerless to stop the rejection of Meredith —a contention the judge accepted.

"These men have not consciously disobeyed the court," attorney Fred B. Smith said at the outset of the hearing. "It was done by others, not by them."

He pinned the final decision on the governor: "He alone denied the admission."

Government attorneys, headed by Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, argued that the university officials "should have taken stronger steps to insure the resignation of Meredith."

Mize is the judge who three times denied Meredith a court order for admission to the university and finally ordered it on direction of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Cuba Resolution Change Barred

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders blocked Friday any rewriting of the congressional "fight-if-we-must" resolution on Cuba.

They won a rule barring amendments when the resolution comes up for House action next Wednesday, despite demands by some members that tougher language be used toward the Communist rulers in Moscow and Havana.

This means the House will vote on the same resolution passed Thursday by the Senate as part of the move to convince the world of this nation's solid determination to use whatever means are needed to prevent Communist aggression from its Cuban base against any neighbor.

The Rules Committee action came as the Kennedy administration sought to shake off what Secretary of State Dean Rusk called a straitjacket amendment the House inserted in the foreign aid bill.

"It's very important that this amendment come out," Rusk told reporters.

He referred to a House rider designed to cut off U.S. aid to any country whose ships carry goods of any kind to Cuba. It was attached to the administration's foreign aid appropriation shortly before the House approved the bill Thursday night.

Aging Stravinsky Returns To Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Igor Stravinsky, famed Russian-born American composer, returned to his native land Friday after 52 years absence.

The 80-year-old musician, accompanied by his wife, Vera, flew to Moscow for a three-week concert and sightseeing tour.

"I am happy to be back on Russian soil," said the aging composer, after tottering through a crush of newsmen and Russians who greeted him as he stepped from his aircraft.

Stravinsky is to give a total of six concerts here and in Leningrad, the former czarist capital of St. Petersburg where he was born.

Day Of Robot Housewife Visualized By Scientist

LONDON (AP)—A British scientist predicted Friday that man will one day invent a robot that will do all of woman's tiresome housework.

He is Prof. Meredith Thring of Sheffield University, who is married and has three children.

"We have gone no further than the halfway stage" in the industrial revolution, he said in an interview.

"This has led a number of inventors to seriously look into the possibility of making a fool-proof, 100 per cent robot housewife."

Mentioning vacuum cleaners, washing machines, floor polishers, and automatic dishwashers, he said: "Yet the average British housewife of 1962 works harder than her Victorian counterpart. She works so hard that her husband often feels compelled to help her."

Thring, a professor of chemical engineering, said it's too early to discuss how far he's gotten with the project, but he visualizes a robot about the size of a small woman—a machine that could be rigged to make beds, set tables and do cleaning chores.

"It would be able to get around the house, including going up and down stairs by itself," he explained. "It would have arms and hands for removing and replacing various objects.

"It would have a built-in computer and a memory. It could be trained to know the geography of a house."

There's one hitch. He said it would take about 10 years to develop at a cost of $2.8 million.

Zuckert Sees Defensive Spacecraft Development

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert warned Friday of "possible threats to our security" from space levels at which the Soviet Union operates.

He suggested that the X15 and X20 rocket planes may lead to craft which could combat such a threat. Another possibility, he said, "might be the permanently manned orbital space station designed for military purposes."

The possible threat, Zuckert told the Air Force Association convention, is in the "near orbital stage of space." This area, in which most present-day satellites whirl, is within 100 miles or so of the earth's surface.

Zuckert said the recent Soviet feat of placing two spacecraft in close orbits "seemed to indicate the need" for development of such weapons.

The X15 rocket plane already has reached an altitude of almost 60 miles in flights from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Eventually it may go as high as 75 miles —or even 100 miles with modification.

The X20 Dyna-Soar is scheduled to begin manned flights into 100-mile-high orbit in 1965, boosted from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by a Titan III rocket now under development.

Zuckert said both the Air Force and the secretary of defense recognize the need for a standardized workhorse launch vehicle.

"That is why the Titan III project was recently approved and we are giving it our wholehearted support," he said.

Hospital's Policy Blamed For Negro Infant Deaths

Charles Co. Institution Denies Charge

BALTIMORE (AP)—An integrationist group charged Friday night that the death rate of Negro infants in a Southern Maryland county was excessively high because the county's only hospital does not officially accept Negroes for obstetrical care.

The Civic Interest Group of Maryland (CIG) designated Physicians Memorial Hospital in La Plata, Charles County, as the offending institution. The hospital administrator, Robert Holthouser, immediately denied it.

In a letter to David Hume, Charles County politician and unsuccessful candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket in May, CIG said that so far this year, 49.6 per cent of all Negro infants born in the county were nonphysician attended. The group contrasted this figure with 2.1 per cent for whites.

Leo Burroughs, public relations director for CIG, said that in 1960, there were 229 midwife deliveries of Negro mothers in the county—one-third of all midwife deliveries in the state. Burroughs also contended that Charles County physicians delivered only 41 of 456 nonwhite births in the county in the same year. Burroughs said his source was a study recently completed by a member of the Maryland Commission on Medical Care.

Holthouser would not dispute the figures, but contended that they were due to a series of circumstances beyond the control of the hospital. He said Negroes now are delivered in the hospital's only delivery room as well as whites. He admitted, however, that this practice had been in effect only for the past few years. He said that prior to his appointment as administrator, he understood Negroes were delivered in the emergency room of the hospital.

The administrator, who came to the hospital in 1960 from North Carolina, said the main difficulty was in educating Negroes in the county to the fact they are welcome to use the hospital facilities. He said there had been little publicity surrounding the fact that the institution was now integrated, and many Negroes preferred to rely on midwives.

He also said the hospital was very inadequate, and seemed confident that conditions would improve when a new, $1.5 million hospital is completed in July.

Holthouser said the county was very short on physicians, and that there were no Negro doctors in the area. He said two Negro physicians come into the county once each week, but have their principal practices in Washington, D. C.

He emphasized that Physicians Memorial is not segregated and has a Negro member on its board of directors.

Two Frogmen Spend Week Beneath Sea

MARSEILLES, France (UPI)—Two French frogmen surfaced near here Friday after spending a week near the bottom of the sea in a test to see if man could live and work in Davey Jones' locker.

Claude Wesley, 30, and Albert Falco, 35, were pulled aboard the French oceanographic ship Calypso after seven days and seven nights spent 33 feet below sea level.

The two breathed a mixture of 80 per cent oxygen and 20 per cent blended gases for one hour before surfacing. This was to protect them against a possible attack of the "bends" which strikes divers' blood circulation when they are raised too quickly from below sea level.

It can be fatal. The two will be kept for 48 hours in the care of Dr. Xavier Fructus, the chief doctor of Cmdr. Yves Cousteau's oceanographic team.

There was no immediate report on the divers' condition.

They lived in a steel cylinder eight feet in diameter and 20 feet long named "Diogenes."

Costeau designed the cylinder and sent Wesley and Falco down to live in it to see if prolonged stays at high atmospheric pressures would bother the human system.

Doctor Fructus previously reported no serious troubles bothering the undersea twins. They suffered a touch of indigestion in the early part of their stay, he said, and, on their third day, some alternating boredom and euphoria attributed to the high oxygen content of the dense atmosphere they were breathing.

Wesley and Falco surpassed by nearly six days the 27-hour record set for high pressure underwater living by a Belgian diver at Villefranche Bay, near Nice, last week.

Fructus said their one week 33 feet down cleared the way for longer stays, perhaps lasting a month or more.

They set our mirrors to light the way to their underwater haven in the daytime and powerful searchlights to illuminate it at night.

They collected fish in nets and put them into a cage they had attached to the sea bottom, thus starting the building of an undersea "farm."

Wesley and Falco whiled away their leisure hours playing the harmonica and the accordion, reading and watching television and listening to the radio.

They took their meals hot, delivered to them in sealed pressure cookers by other skindivers, and even received a barber and a dentist who donned aqualungs and flippers to pay the house call.

SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW — The new—a gift transistor radio—brings delight to Mrs. Frank Dosda, who will celebrate her 101st birthday at Wichita, Kan., tomorrow. She enjoys turning the radio on loud and holding it to her ear while she chants long-remembered verses from the ballad of Casey Jones to whatever rock 'n' roll tune happens to be playing. Dillon Opposes British Trade Reserve Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said Friday that the controversial British plan to increase the Free World's trade-financing reserves poses "almost insuperable questions."

Dillon thus brought into the open a sharp split among Western financial leaders over the merits of the British proposal, voiced Wednesday by Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling.

The British official, here for the meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, suggested creation of a fund into which leading industrial countries would contribute currencies undergoing weak spells. The countries making these deposits — which would be guaranteed against loss in the event of a currency devaluation — could use their deposits to support their own currencies should they later run into similar difficulties.

Dillon told a news conference that while Maudling's plan is not complete and specific it presents "a number of difficulties we can't see through as yet."

Citing an example, the Treasury chief wondered aloud whether there would be some limit on the amount of deposits of any single currency.

If there were no limit, he said, that would constitute a devaluation-loss guarantee without a ceiling—something the United States flatly opposes.

If there were a limit, he said, there would be almost insuperable questions raised in trying to decide which countries would be allowed to make their deposits first and claim the guarantee. He indicated this could lead to a disruptive scramble.

Education TV Units Set Up

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes has designated the State Board of Education to be Maryland's educational television agency.

The governor has also established a working committee to be known as the educational television advisory committee to represent the educational-cultural interests of the state.

Tawes announced his action in letters to Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, and Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, who drafted the proposal which the governor approved.

"I support your proposal. I believe it offers us the means to obtain the advantages of educational television for our children," he said.

"The advisory committee will consist of representatives from the State Department of Education, the University of Maryland, the Baltimore City Department of Education, the Maryland Library Association and the Maryland-D.C. Broadcasters Association.

The designation of a state coordinating agency was necessary if Maryland was to receive federal funds for the construction of educational television stations.

Wasps Lead Reds' Viet Nam Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite plenty of sting, attacking Communist guerrillas were driven off by defenders of a government outpost in the Mekong River delta, a communique said Friday.

The Reds threw eight containers of live wasps into the post before beginning the attack. Four of the defenders were stung.

Youths Sent To Jail After Fatal Drag Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two young men from suburban Maryland were sentenced to jail Friday as the aftermath of a drag race in which a youth was killed.

Richard Rusk, 23, of Lanham, and Douglas Jacobs, 20, of Silver Spring, were sentenced in U.S. District Court to four months in jail. After that, the judge ordered, they will be on probation for five years.

The two were indicted originally on charges of manslaughter. Later they pleaded no contest to charges of negligent homicide.

Police said Rusk and Jacobs were drivers of two cars that engaged in a drag race on Michigan Avenue in Washington, in November 1961.

The race, in the early morning hours, ended in an accident, police said, and Seaman Apprentice John A. Thompson, 18, of East Riverdale, Md., a passenger in one of the cars, was fatally injured.

State Protests IRS Seizure Of Equipment

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State of Maryland protested Friday that federal tax agents had no right to seize equipment needed for remodeling a building for the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

Albert P. Backhaus, director of the Maryland Department of Public Improvements, said the federal freeze on the equipment has thrown the work 25 per cent behind schedule.

He said it will be almost impossible to finish the work in time for use in February as planned.

The Internal Revenue Service has seized the equipment because of an alleged $42,871 tax delinquency by a subcontractor. The equipment includes pipes, air conditioners, pumps and ducts.

Backhaus questioned authority of the IRS to "seize assets of the state of Maryland, that is, material and equipment which has been duly paid for by the state."

He said the state paid a general contractor for the equipment and that it has no dealings with subcontractors.

Irving Machiz, IRS district director in Baltimore, said the $80,000 worth of property seized belonged to the subcontractor, Akron Inc. of Brentwood, Md., and was seized only after Akron identified it.

"This property we have placed under seizure belongs to Akron Inc., not the State of Maryland, as far as we're concerned," he said. "An officer of Akron identified it and evaluated it.

"We filed the lien against the subcontractor. We don't have any dispute with the state."

Navy Pilot Killed When Jets Collide

PRINCESS ANNE COURTHOUSE, Va. (AP)—One Navy jet pilot was killed and another parachuted to safety after their F8U Crusader planes collided at low altitude as they approached the Oceana Naval Air Station Thursday night.

Dead is Lt. (JG) William Henry Bader, 25. He is survived by his widow and a three-week-old son, of Oceana, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bader, of Phoenixville, Pa.

The other pilot is Lt. Guy Kermit Webb, 30, of Man, W. Va.

After the planes collided they crashed about 100 yards apart. A spokesman for Bader's squadron said Bader ejected from his plane and his body was found near its wreckage. The spokesman declined to say whether Bader's parachute opened.

Rail Settlement Believed Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiators have reached a basic agreement on all major issues involved in the Chicago & North Western Railway strike and may be only hours away from agreement on the formal language, a federal mediator said Friday.

Mediator Francis A. O'Neill told reporters a settlement between the big railroad and its striking telegraphers could come Friday night, but was more likely Saturday.

"O'Neill made the statement, with the consent of Acting Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, at a luncheon break in the four-day-old negotiations.

Even before he made the statement, a relaxation of the tense mood which had surrounded the talks indicated a settlement was imminent.

Howard County May Not Give Sabin Vaccine

By The Associated Press

Howard County's health officer said Friday it's extremely unlikely his county will take part in distribution of the Sabine oral vaccine for polio beginning next month.

At the same time, Baltimore County said it would go ahead and give the vaccine despite opposition from the county's medical association.

Dr. Theodore R. Shrop, Howard County health officer, said the major reason for not going ahead is the feeling of his office that it is not getting the proper public response to the vaccine.

In addition, he said, some Howard County physicians are not willing to take part and many volunteers scheduled to work on the program have backed down.

Physicians' unwillingness was confirmed by a spokesman for the Howard County Medical Society. He said it was physically impossible for doctors to take part.

Plans call for administering Type I vaccine in October and Type II in November. The U.S. Public Health Service has recommended withholding Type III of the oral vaccine.

In Baltimore County, Dr. William H. F. Warthen said:

"This is important and Baltimore County is going to do it if I have to get out and do the job myself."

The Baltimore County Medical Association had voted to postpone the immunization program. Dr. Frank Kasik, chairman of the association's board of governors, said the action was taken because of adverse publicity about the polio vaccine.

Pennsylvania Plans Rail Merger Move

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's advisers recommended that the state intervene in the proposed Pennsylvania Railroad-New York Central Railroad merger proceedings before the federal Interstate Commerce Commission. They made it clear the purpose of the move would be to get the state on record as an interested party.

The governor agreed that the state should carry out the group's proposal.

At the same time the advisers said a special group of staff experts has been designated to meet with interested parties in the merger plan.

U.S. Launch Of Canadian Satellite To Mark 'Firsts'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian space agency said Friday it will be taking some new steps when it launches into earth orbit soon a Canadian-made spacecraft to study the ionosphere.

The spacecraft, the Alouette, is the first to be designed and built by a nation other than the United States or the Soviet Union. It is named for a highflying songbird of the lark family which inhabits most of Canada.

It will be the first orbital attempt from Point Arguello, Calif., by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It will be NASA's first use of the two-stage Thor-Agena B vehicle — to launch a satellite into orbit.

The joint U.S.-Canadian experiment will be attempted some time after next Wednesday, NASA said. The aim is to put the Alouette into a near-circular orbit of about 600-mile altitude around the earth.

The Canadian satellite project is part of the "Topside Sounder Program" to be carried out under NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md. The Alouette and the U.S.-sponsored S48, to be launched later this year, will support each other in ionospheric investigations.

The spheroid-shaped Alouette will conduct four experiments. Three will be for the defense research telecommunications establishment near Ottawa and the fourth will be for Canada's National Research Council.

The main effort will be to be a year-long project to measure the way the number of free electrons in the ionosphere change daily with the time of day and latitude.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes has designated the State Board of Education to be Maryland's educational television agency.

The governor has also established a working committee to be known as the educational television advisory committee to represent the educational-cultural interests of the state.

Tawes announced his action in letters to Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, and Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, who drafted the proposal which the governor approved.

"I support your proposal. I believe it offers us the means to obtain the advantages of educational television for our children," he said.

"The advisory committee will consist of representatives from the State Department of Education, the University of Maryland, the Baltimore City Department of Education, the Maryland Library Association and the Maryland-D.C. Broadcasters Association.

The designation of a state coordinating agency was necessary if Maryland was to receive federal funds for the construction of educational television stations.

Wasps Lead Reds' Viet Nam Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite plenty of sting, attacking Communist guerrillas were driven off by defenders of a government outpost in the Mekong River delta, a communique said Friday.

The Reds threw eight containers of live wasps into the post before beginning the attack. Four of the defenders were stung.

Youths Sent To Jail After Fatal Drag Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two young men from suburban Maryland were sentenced to jail Friday as the aftermath of a drag race in which a youth was killed.

Richard Rusk, 23, of Lanham, and Douglas Jacobs, 20, of Silver Spring, were sentenced in U.S. District Court to four months in jail. After that, the judge ordered, they will be on probation for five years.

The two were indicted originally on charges of manslaughter. Later they pleaded no contest to charges of negligent homicide.

Police said Rusk and Jacobs were drivers of two cars that engaged in a drag race on Michigan Avenue in Washington, in November 1961.

The race, in the early morning hours, ended in an accident, police said, and Seaman Apprentice John A. Thompson, 18, of East Riverdale, Md., a passenger in one of the cars, was fatally injured.

State Protests IRS Seizure Of Equipment

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State of Maryland protested Friday that federal tax agents had no right to seize equipment needed for remodeling a building for the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

Albert P. Backhaus, director of the Maryland Department of Public Improvements, said the federal freeze on the equipment has thrown the work 25 per cent behind schedule.

He said it will be almost impossible to finish the work in time for use in February as planned.

The Internal Revenue Service has seized the equipment because of an alleged $42,871 tax delinquency by a subcontractor. The equipment includes pipes, air conditioners, pumps and ducts.

Backhaus questioned authority of the IRS to "seize assets of the state of Maryland, that is, material and equipment which has been duly paid for by the state."

He said the state paid a general contractor for the equipment and that it has no dealings with subcontractors.

Irving Machiz, IRS district director in Baltimore, said the $80,000 worth of property seized belonged to the subcontractor, Akron Inc. of Brentwood, Md., and was seized only after Akron identified it.

"This property we have placed under seizure belongs to Akron Inc., not the State of Maryland, as far as we're concerned," he said. "An officer of Akron identified it and evaluated it.

"We filed the lien against the subcontractor. We don't have any dispute with the state."

Navy Pilot Killed When Jets Collide

PRINCESS ANNE COURTHOUSE, Va. (AP)—One Navy jet pilot was killed and another parachuted to safety after their F8U Crusader planes collided at low altitude as they approached the Oceana Naval Air Station Thursday night.

Dead is Lt. (JG) William Henry Bader, 25. He is survived by his widow and a three-week-old son, of Oceana, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bader, of Phoenixville, Pa.

The other pilot is Lt. Guy Kermit Webb, 30, of Man, W. Va.

After the planes collided they crashed about 100 yards apart. A spokesman for Bader's squadron said Bader ejected from his plane and his body was found near its wreckage. The spokesman declined to say whether Bader's parachute opened.

Two Frogmen Spend Week Beneath Sea

MARSEILLES, France (UPI)—Two French frogmen surfaced near here Friday after spending a week near the bottom of the sea in a test to see if man could live and work in Davey Jones' locker.

Claude Wesley, 30, and Albert Falco, 35, were pulled aboard the French oceanographic ship Calypso after seven days and seven nights spent 33 feet below sea level.

The two breathed a mixture of 80 per cent oxygen and 20 per cent blended gases for one hour before surfacing. This was to protect them against a possible attack of the "bends" which strikes divers' blood circulation when they are raised too quickly from below sea level.

It can be fatal. The two will be kept for 48 hours in the care of Dr. Xavier Fructus, the chief doctor of Cmdr. Yves Cousteau's oceanographic team.

There was no immediate report on the divers' condition.

They lived in a steel cylinder eight feet in diameter and 20 feet long named "Diogenes."

Costeau designed the cylinder and sent Wesley and Falco down to live in it to see if prolonged stays at high atmospheric pressures would bother the human system.

Doctor Fructus previously reported no serious troubles bothering the undersea twins. They suffered a touch of indigestion in the early part of their stay, he said, and, on their third day, some alternating boredom and euphoria attributed to the high oxygen content of the dense atmosphere they were breathing.

Wesley and Falco surpassed by nearly six days the 27-hour record set for high pressure underwater living by a Belgian diver at Villefranche Bay, near Nice, last week.

Fructus said their one week 33 feet down cleared the way for longer stays, perhaps lasting a month or more.

They set our mirrors to light the way to their underwater haven in the daytime and powerful searchlights to illuminate it at night.

They collected fish in nets and put them into a cage they had attached to the sea bottom, thus starting the building of an undersea "farm."

Wesley and Falco whiled away their leisure hours playing the harmonica and the accordion, reading and watching television and listening to the radio.

They took their meals hot, delivered to them in sealed pressure cookers by other skindivers, and even received a barber and a dentist who donned aqualungs and flippers to pay the house call.

Rail Settlement Believed Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiators have reached a basic agreement on all major issues involved in the Chicago & North Western Railway strike and may be only hours away from agreement on the formal language, a federal mediator said Friday.

Mediator Francis A. O'Neill told reporters a settlement between the big railroad and its striking telegraphers could come Friday night, but was more likely Saturday.

"O'Neill made the statement, with the consent of Acting Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, at a luncheon break in the four-day-old negotiations.

Even before he made the statement, a relaxation of the tense mood which had surrounded the talks indicated a settlement was imminent.

Howard County May Not Give Sabin Vaccine

By The Associated Press

Howard County's health officer said Friday it's extremely unlikely his county will take part in distribution of the Sabine oral vaccine for polio beginning next month.

At the same time, Baltimore County said it would go ahead and give the vaccine despite opposition from the county's medical association.

Dr. Theodore R. Shrop, Howard County health officer, said the major reason for not going ahead is the feeling of his office that it is not getting the proper public response to the vaccine.

In addition, he said, some Howard County physicians are not willing to take part and many volunteers scheduled to work on the program have backed down.

Physicians' unwillingness was confirmed by a spokesman for the Howard County Medical Society. He said it was physically impossible for doctors to take part.

Plans call for administering Type I vaccine in October and Type II in November. The U.S. Public Health Service has recommended withholding Type III of the oral vaccine.

In Baltimore County, Dr. William H. F. Warthen said:

"This is important and Baltimore County is going to do it if I have to get out and do the job myself."

The Baltimore County Medical Association had voted to postpone the immunization program. Dr. Frank Kasik, chairman of the association's board of governors, said the action was taken because of adverse publicity about the polio vaccine.

Pennsylvania Plans Rail Merger Move

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's advisers recommended that the state intervene in the proposed Pennsylvania Railroad-New York Central Railroad merger proceedings before the federal Interstate Commerce Commission. They made it clear the purpose of the move would be to get the state on record as an interested party.

The governor agreed that the state should carry out the group's proposal.

At the same time the advisers said a special group of staff experts has been designated to meet with interested parties in the merger plan.

U.S. Launch Of Canadian Satellite To Mark 'Firsts'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian space agency said Friday it will be taking some new steps when it launches into earth orbit soon a Canadian-made spacecraft to study the ionosphere.

The spacecraft, the Alouette, is the first to be designed and built by a nation other than the United States or the Soviet Union. It is named for a highflying songbird of the lark family which inhabits most of Canada.

It will be the first orbital attempt from Point Arguello, Calif., by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It will be NASA's first use of the two-stage Thor-Agena B vehicle — to launch a satellite into orbit.

The joint U.S.-Canadian experiment will be attempted some time after next Wednesday, NASA said. The aim is to put the Alouette into a near-circular orbit of about 600-mile altitude around the earth.

The Canadian satellite project is part of the "Topside Sounder Program" to be carried out under NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md. The Alouette and the U.S.-sponsored S48, to be launched later this year, will support each other in ionospheric investigations.

The spheroid-shaped Alouette will conduct four experiments. Three will be for the defense research telecommunications establishment near Ottawa and the fourth will be for Canada's National Research Council.

The main effort will be to be a year-long project to measure the way the number of free electrons in the ionosphere change daily with the time of day and latitude.

Dillon Opposes British Trade Reserve Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said Friday that the controversial British plan to increase the Free World's trade-financing reserves poses "almost insuperable questions."

Dillon thus brought into the open a sharp split among Western financial leaders over the merits of the British proposal, voiced Wednesday by Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling.

The British official, here for the meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, suggested creation of a fund into which leading industrial countries would contribute currencies undergoing weak spells. The countries making these deposits — which would be guaranteed against loss in the event of a currency devaluation — could use their deposits to support their own currencies should they later run into similar difficulties.

Dillon told a news conference that while Maudling's plan is not complete and specific it presents "a number of difficulties we can't see through as yet."

Citing an example, the Treasury chief wondered aloud whether there would be some limit on the amount of deposits of any single currency.

If there were no limit, he said, that would constitute a devaluation-loss guarantee without a ceiling—something the United States flatly opposes.

If there were a limit, he said, there would be almost insuperable questions raised in trying to decide which countries would be allowed to make their deposits first and claim the guarantee. He indicated this could lead to a disruptive scramble.

The road pictured here bears the time-worn marks of many travellers. Apparently it leads to some distant village or serves perhaps as a link between more vital thoroughfares.

But in reality this road does neither. Once, no doubt, it had a destination, but today it fades away into the woods a few miles beyond—a "dead end."

How many lives are like this road? They have promising beginnings, but instead of continuing to worthwhile goals, they wander aimlessly to final dead ends.

The Church teaches us to build useful lives and guides us toward noble achievements and ambitions. Regular attendance at church services gives greater assurance that our pathway of life will not lead us astray. On the contrary, it leads straight to the house of the peaceful mind and the contented heart.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

College Dean Urges Action

CHICAGO (AP) — More action by the Methodist Church to put into working practice its stand against "the use of tobacco in all its forms" is urged by Orlo Struk Jr., dean of West Virginia Wesleyan College, in an article in the Christian Advocate.

Noting mounting findings linking smoking to cancer and certain heart conditions, he says: "The Methodist position on the use of tobacco is certainly a sound one, despite the jeers, sighs, winks of the sophisticates and the other-directed."

The road pictured here bears the time-worn marks of many travellers. Apparently it leads to some distant village or serves perhaps as a link between more vital thoroughfares.

But in reality this road does neither. Once, no doubt, it had a destination, but today it fades away into the woods a few miles beyond—a "dead end."

How many lives are like this road? They have promising beginnings, but instead of continuing to worthwhile goals, they wander aimlessly to final dead ends.

The Church teaches us to build useful lives and guides us toward noble achievements and ambitions. Regular attendance at church services gives greater assurance that our pathway of life will not lead us astray. On the contrary, it leads straight to the house of the peaceful mind and the contented heart.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Springfield Man Killed In Rail Accident

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company employe was fatally injured Thursday in a work accident in the Terra Alta, W. Va., area.

Victim of the mishap was Ralph Garland Long, 39, of Springfield, W. Va., who was struck by a work train while he was supervising the work of an undercutter, a machine used in improving the track bed and preparing it for ballast.

According to B&O officials, who say the investigation is not yet completed, Long was foreman of the undercutter crew. It is reported he was standing on Track No. 2 at Riggs Crossing, near Terra Alta, and that a work train hauling 17 cars of ballast was approaching on Track No. 1.

A member of the work train who was watching from the caboose as it backed up to where the undercutter was working informed B&O officials that he noticed Long standing in the middle of Track No. 1. He sounded the whistle on the caboose as a warning, and when he saw that Long apparently did not hear the warning, threw the work train into an emergency stop.

The side of the caboose struck Long as he apparently made an attempt to keep from being hit. He was taken to Preston County Memorial Hospital, Kingwood, W. Va., where he died shortly after being admitted.

Long was a veteran employe of the railroad, entering its service in 1943 as a trackman. He worked out of the Cumberland Division.

Born in Springfield, he was a son of Mrs. Mary (Adams) Long, of that community, and the late Conrad Long. He held membership in Springfield Presbyterian Church and was a member of its Board of Deacons.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Mrs. Ruth (Zirk) Long; two children, Ralph W. and Sandra K. Long, both at home, and two brothers, Conrad J. Long Jr., Springfield, and John W. Long, Flintstone.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home, Romney, W. Va.

A service will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at Springfield Presbyterian Church. Rev. Fred Clark and Rev. James Mitchem will officiate and interment will be in Baptist Cemetery, Three Churches, W. Va. The body will be taken to the church a 1 p.m.

Friends will be received at the funeral home today from 2 until 4 p.m. and 7 until 9 p.m.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just turned 21. For many years I have known that my mother has been cheating on my dad.

Dad admits he has been aware of this for ten years. He claims he never wanted my brother and me to be hurt so he said nothing and did nothing.

My hurt has long been healed. Mother lost all my love and respect when I first learned of her affair. She is still carrying on with the same man after all these years and dad continues to be deaf, dumb and blind.

I think he is a fool to let her get away with this. I've tried to get him to divorce mother and find a decent woman who could give him the happiness he is entitled to but he refuses to listen.

Maybe if he saw your advice he would take it. And perhaps if my mother saw it she would realize what she has done to all of us.

—JERRY

DEAR JERRY: Neither your dad nor your mother wrote for advice so I have none for them—but I DO have some for you.

Your mother doesn't deserve any good conduct medals, but your behavior is also unspeakable.

There's an outside chance that you don't know all the facts relating to your mother's behavior—or your father's either. So why don't you put away that pitchfork Sis, and let your parents work out their problems as best they can?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am allowing a trivial matter to assume serious proportions and it may wreck my marriage. Please say something to set me on the right track.

Several months ago I married a widower. I was a widow. We've known each other for many years. Everything was fine until I learned he get part of his mail at his daughter's home.

I can think of no reason for this except a few dividend checks which he turns over to his children. He has told me about the dividends but they don't amount to much. I have money of my own and I don't need his.

Twice I have suggested he receive ALL his mail at our home, but he continues to use his daughter's mailing address. What shall I do now?

—D. W.

DEAR D. W.: Now forget it. The first sentence of your letter describes the situation beautifully. Don't cut off your head to cure a headache.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've never heard of ths problem before and I'll bet you haven't either. I have a very nice girl friend and we get along great together. Whenever I eat at her house I get sick to my stomach. When she eats at my house the same thing happens. When we have lunch together at school I have no trouble. Also, when we eat in a public place I am perfectly fine. It is only when we eat at her house or mine that I get sick.

Can you help me?

—BARFSVILLE

DEAR BARFSVILLE: I'm sure you've guessed your problem is emotional. Something about your home atmosphere is making you uncomfortable in this girl's presence. It may be that your home is quite different from hers and this difference makes you ill at ease when you are together.

Tell your head to notify your stomach that these differences do not matter.

Confidential to SICK OF IT: Why don't you substitute a backbone for that wishbone and tell her you are no longer going to be a doormat and a cash-register?

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What to Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

B&O Promotes J. S. Ketzner

John S. Ketzner, a Cumberland man, has been appointed general storekeeper of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad with headquarters in Baltimore.

The railroad also announced that William T. Dillon Sr., another Cumberlander, was appointed assistant general storekeeper.

Ketzner will have system-wide jurisdiction over material and equipment supplies used in the operation of the railroad.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, he began his B&O career here in 1939. Following military service in World War II, he returned to the railroad as an accountant in the stores department at Cumberland.

He later was promoted to storekeeper at Keyser, then storekeeper at DuBois, Pa., and last year to storekeeper at Glenwood near Pittsburgh.

In February, he was named system supervisor of car and shop material at Baltimore and four months later he became assistant purchasing agent of the company, the position he held prior to his recent promotion.

During World War II, Ketzner was a navigator in the Eighth Air Force and after being shot down over Merzburg, Germany, spent one year in a prison camp.

He is the son of Mrs. Ralph L. Ketzner, 402 Louisiana Avenue, and the late Mr. Ketzner. His father worked 51 years for the B&O Railroad in the superintendent's office here prior to his retirement.

Ketzner is married to the former Mary Elizabeth (Betty) Carter, R.N., of this city and the couple has four children.

Dillon had been supervisor of Diesel material at Baltimore since January. After joining the stores department here in 1923, he later served at Brunswick, Fairmont and Grafton. Dillon was regional storekeeper at Pittsburgh before transferring to Baltomore this year.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Taste Is A Mysterious Element Of Charm

Taste grows with observation of the "rights" and "wrongs" that others practice. If you shudder for those overdressed at an informal function, or sense the discord in a costume combining dress-down accessories with sparkling cocktail separates, your thoughts must be attuned to the tasteful in dress.

Simple clothes are always best. Even this fine rule, however, can be carried to inappropriate extremes. Let your costume depend more on the time, place and event for which you are dressing than on your mood of the moment. Find out, if you can, what others are wearing (particularly the hostess) before you decide to don slacks for a picnic—or a strapless gown for a party.

Avoid on every occasion such obvious errors of taste as a melange of accessory shades, a shoulder-strap bag with a dressy suit, sandals with a go-to-business outfit, yesterday's party corsage on today's casual tweeds, an after-five dress in the early hours of the day, a kittenish ribbon or posy blooming in a mature hairstyle, sportswear (slacks or shorts) on the street, a low-cut dress that requires constant strap adjustment, sequinned glasses with daytime clothes.

Extend your sense of the tasteful to manners as well as dress. Loudness of voice is sure evidence that the full measure of taste was not allotted to you. Other acts of circumstantial evidence are the superior attitude, the grand entrance that needs only spotlights to resemble a Broadway premiere, monopolizing of conversation or attention, pushing to be first in any line, frequent exits and entrances that disturb others in a public place, or demanding priority service from a salesperson.

Any show of rudeness whatsoever, in fact, is the ultimate in bad taste . . . comparable to slipshod grooming that detracts from any other tasteful ways by which you strive to present a charming self-portrait.

Local Native Postmaster At Bowie

Eugene G. Bujac, a native of Cumberland, has been named acting postmaster of Bowie, the first step toward making the position a permanent one for that Maryland town.

Bujac is the son of Mrs. Charles P. Bujac, 232 Cecelia Street, and the late Mr. Bujac.

The new Bowie postmaster attended Fort Hill High School here, quit school to enter the armed forces, is a veteran of World War II and was twice wounded in action. His second injury resulted in his discharge in 1946 after five and one-half years. After his discharge he returned to night school to earn his diploma.

For a time, he was employed at the Celanese plant and in 1948 went to work for the Cumberland Post Office. He began working on railway post offices operating between Washington, D. C., and Jersey City, N. J. A year later, he was appointed transfer clerk in the transfer office of Pennsylvania Station, Baltimore. His job was to coordinate mail movement and to act as liaison between the department and the railroads. Later he was detailed to the district office in Baltimore, to help with reorganization of star routes on the Eastern Shore. When Baltimore's district office was discontinued, he transferred to a mobile unit organization in Washington, D. C.

Bujac is married to the former Helen Davis of Cumberland, who is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Davis, Oldtown Road, and the late Mr. Davis. The Bujacs have three children, Mark, Greg and Julie.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — "Pal Joey," one of the all time popular musicals, will be made into a TV spectacular by Hollywood musician Johnny Green and producer Les Hafner. A one and a-half hour version, it will include the original score written by Richard Rodgers and the late Lorenz Hart.

"Pal Joey" has been revived almost every year. Just a few years ago, Columbia made it as a motion picture with Frank Sinatra, Kim Novak and Rita Hayworth.

Johnny had a smile on his face that wouldn't come off—he's so pleased with the deal. David Susskind and others tried to buy the TV rights, but Johnny won out.

It was a joy to hear Anita Loos tell the story of her play "King's Men" which will star Carol Channing, and goes into rehearsal in November. Anita telephoned me that Carol plays Anne of Cleaves, the German wife of Henry VIII, and the only one of his many wives who was a match for him. Anne stood up to him and he tried to get her to re-marry him, but she had had enough.

The play opens about mid-January and Fred Coe (producer of "The Miracle Worker" and "Two For the Seesaw") is the producer. Anita says she found the story in a French book, from which it's adapted.

Jane Morgan, who is in town for a few days to do a commercial, told me that she is meeting her husband Lawrence Stith in New York to decide about their future.

"We love each other," she said, "but Larry doesn't want to travel with me on my singing engagements, and I don't want to give up my career. I have worked too hard, and it's only now beginning to pay off."

She said her husband is now with his family in North Carolina.

"We had just bought a new apartment in New York," said Jane, "but I was only able to spend a few days at a time there with Larry this summer, and he's tired of travelling as he did when we were first married."

Pulling the padlocks off the gates at least long enough to give a luncheon for the press to look at "The Longest Day," the shut-down 20th Century-Fox looked like its old self Wednesday noon.

The particular guests of honor were Irina Demich, leading lady, and her traveling companion, Madame Janine Gille, famed for her activity with the French resistence movement during World War II. Neither lady speaks English—but my personal spy reported that even so he came by some translated news from the fascinating Irina.

In addition to remaining here for the Los Angeles opening on Oct. 11, Irina will go to London for the debut which will be presided over by Princess Margaret. Asked about her reactions to Hollywood she relayed through the translator, "I want to see Disneyland!" Just like Khrushchev when he was a visitor on the same lot.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bob Hope isn't going to let the fact that he broke a blood vessel in his foot keep him from going to Las Vegas to appear at the Air Force convention. From Vegas he goes to London. Isn't he the flitter bug.

Accounting Post Filled

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday held an abbreviated meeting in order to participate in the State Road Commission ribbon-cutting ceremony on Long Hill.

On motion of Commissioner John T. Mason and seconded by Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon, Miss Sharon Barkman was appointed temporary clerk-stenographer in the county accounting department, a new position.

Board President John J. Rowan objected to the appointment, claiming that the position was not being filled from the County Civil Service eligible list.

Edward Shuck of Potomac Park informed the commissioners he would be against the possible closing of any streets and alleys in the Peoples Park Amusement Company Addition to LaVale.

A petition had been filed to open certain streets in the addition by George E. Baughman and others. The streets are LaVale Avenue, Park Avenue, Braddock Street and Washington Street.

Shuck said it was his understanding that the petitioners indicated they will file later to have all of these streets and alleys closed. In the event they are closed, access to Shuck's three lots on Park Avenue will be denied.

Springfield Man Killed In Rail Accident

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company employe was fatally injured Thursday in a work accident in the Terra Alta, W. Va., area.

Victim of the mishap was Ralph Garland Long, 39, of Springfield, W. Va., who was struck by a work train while he was supervising the work of an undercutter, a machine used in improving the track bed and preparing it for ballast.

According to B&O officials, who say the investigation is not yet completed, Long was foreman of the undercutter crew. It is reported he was standing on Track No. 2 at Riggs Crossing, near Terra Alta, and that a work train hauling 17 cars of ballast was approaching on Track No. 1.

A member of the work train who was watching from the caboose as it backed up to where the undercutter was working informed B&O officials that he noticed Long standing in the middle of Track No. 1. He sounded the whistle on the caboose as a warning, and when he saw that Long apparently did not hear the warning, threw the work train into an emergency stop.

The side of the caboose struck Long as he apparently made an attempt to keep from being hit. He was taken to Preston County Memorial Hospital, Kingwood, W. Va., where he died shortly after being admitted.

Long was a veteran employe of the railroad, entering its service in 1943 as a trackman. He worked out of the Cumberland Division.

Born in Springfield, he was a son of Mrs. Mary (Adams) Long, of that community, and the late Conrad Long. He held membership in Springfield Presbyterian Church and was a member of its Board of Deacons.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Mrs. Ruth (Zirk) Long; two children, Ralph W. and Sandra K. Long, both at home, and two brothers, Conrad J. Long Jr., Springfield, and John W. Long, Flintstone.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home, Romney, W. Va.

A service will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at Springfield Presbyterian Church. Rev. Fred Clark and Rev. James Mitchem will officiate and interment will be in Baptist Cemetery, Three Churches, W. Va. The body will be taken to the church a 1 p.m.

Friends will be received at the funeral home today from 2 until 4 p.m. and 7 until 9 p.m.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just turned 21. For many years I have known that my mother has been cheating on my dad.

Dad admits he has been aware of this for ten years. He claims he never wanted my brother and me to be hurt so he said nothing and did nothing.

My hurt has long been healed. Mother lost all my love and respect when I first learned of her affair. She is still carrying on with the same man after all these years and dad continues to be deaf, dumb and blind.

I think he is a fool to let her get away with this. I've tried to get him to divorce mother and find a decent woman who could give him the happiness he is entitled to but he refuses to listen.

Maybe if he saw your advice he would take it. And perhaps if my mother saw it she would realize what she has done to all of us.

—JERRY

DEAR JERRY: Neither your dad nor your mother wrote for advice so I have none for them—but I DO have some for you.

Your mother doesn't deserve any good conduct medals, but your behavior is also unspeakable.

There's an outside chance that you don't know all the facts relating to your mother's behavior—or your father's either. So why don't you put away that pitchfork Sis, and let your parents work out their problems as best they can?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am allowing a trivial matter to assume serious proportions and it may wreck my marriage. Please say something to set me on the right track.

Several months ago I married a widower. I was a widow. We've known each other for many years. Everything was fine until I learned he get part of his mail at his daughter's home.

I can think of no reason for this except a few dividend checks which he turns over to his children. He has told me about the dividends but they don't amount to much. I have money of my own and I don't need his.

Twice I have suggested he receive ALL his mail at our home, but he continues to use his daughter's mailing address. What shall I do now? —D. W.

DEAR D. W.: Now forget it. The first sentence of your letter describes the situation beautifully. Don't cut off your head to cure a headache.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've never heard of ths problem before and I'll bet you haven't either. I have a very nice girl friend and we get along great together. Whenever I eat at her house I get sick to my stomach. When she eats at my house the same thing happens. When we have lunch together at school I have no trouble. Also, when we eat in a public place I am perfectly fine. It is only when we eat at her house or mine that I get sick.

Can you help me?

—BARFSVILLE

DEAR BARFSVILLE: I'm sure you've guessed your problem is emotional. Something about your home atmosphere is making you uncomfortable in this girl's presence. It may be that your home is quite different from hers and this difference makes you ill at ease when you are together.

Tell your head to notify your stomach that these differences do not matter.

Confidential to SICK OF IT: Why don't you substitute a backbone for that wishbone and tell her you are no longer going to be a doormat and a cash-register?

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What to Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

B&O Promotes J. S. Ketzner

John S. Ketzner, a Cumberland man, has been appointed general storekeeper of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad with headquarters in Baltimore.

The railroad also announced that William T. Dillon Sr., another Cumberlander, was appointed assistant general storekeeper.

Ketzner will have system-wide jurisdiction over material and equipment supplies used in the operation of the railroad.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, he began his B&O career here in 1939. Following military service in World War II, he returned to the railroad as an accountant in the stores department at Cumberland.

He later was promoted to storekeeper at Keyser, then storekeeper at DuBois, Pa., and last year to storekeeper at Glenwood near Pittsburgh.

In February, he was named system supervisor of car and shop material at Baltimore and four months later he became assistant purchasing agent of the company, the position he held prior to his recent promotion.

During World War II, Ketzner was a navigator in the Eighth Air Force and after being shot down over Merzburg, Germany, spent one year in a prison camp.

He is the son of Mrs. Ralph L. Ketzner, 402 Louisiana Avenue, and the late Mr. Ketzner. His father worked 51 years for the B&O Railroad in the superintendent's office here prior to his retirement.

Ketzner is married to the former Mary Elizabeth (Betty) Carter, R.N., of this city and the couple has four children.

Dillon had been supervisor of Diesel material at Baltimore since January. After joining the stores department here in 1923, he later served at Brunswick, Fairmont and Grafton. Dillon was regional storekeeper at Pittsburgh before transferring to Baltomore this year.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Taste Is A Mysterious Element Of Charm

Taste grows with observation of the "rights" and "wrongs" that others practice. If you shudder for those overdressed at an informal function, or sense the discord in a costume combining dress-down accessories with sparkling cocktail separates, your thoughts must be attuned to the tasteful in dress.

Simple clothes are always best. Even this fine rule, however, can be carried to inappropriate extremes. Let your costume depend more on the time, place and event for which you are dressing than on your mood of the moment. Find out, if you can, what others are wearing (particularly the hostess) before you decide to don slacks for a picnic—or a strapless gown for a party.

Avoid on every occasion such obvious errors of taste as a melange of accessory shades, a shoulder-strap bag with a dressy suit, sandals with a go-to-business outfit, yesterday's party corsage on today's casual tweeds, an after-five dress in the early hours of the day, a kittenish ribbon or posy blooming in a mature hairstyle, sportswear (slacks or shorts) on the street, a low-cut dress that requires constant strap adjustment, sequinned glasses with daytime clothes.

Extend your sense of the tasteful to manners as well as dress. Loudness of voice is sure evidence that the full measure of taste was not allotted to you. Other acts of circumstantial evidence are the superior attitude, the grand entrance that needs only spotlights to resemble a Broadway premiere, monopolizing of conversation or attention, pushing to be first in any line, frequent exits and entrances that disturb others in a public place, or demanding priority service from a salesperson.

Any show of rudeness whatsoever, in fact, is the ultimate in bad taste . . . comparable to slipshod grooming that detracts from any other tasteful ways by which you strive to present a charming self-portrait.

Local Native Postmaster At Bowie

Eugene G. Bujac, a native of Cumberland, has been named acting postmaster of Bowie, the first step toward making the position a permanent one for that Maryland town.

Bujac is the son of Mrs. Charles P. Bujac, 232 Cecelia Street, and the late Mr. Bujac.

The new Bowie postmaster attended Fort Hill High School here, quit school to enter the armed forces, is a veteran of World War II and was twice wounded in action. His second injury resulted in his discharge in 1946 after five and one-half years. After his discharge he returned to night school to earn his diploma.

For a time, he was employed at the Celanese plant and in 1948 went to work for the Cumberland Post Office. He began working on railway post offices operating between Washington, D. C., and Jersey City, N. J. A year later, he was appointed transfer clerk in the transfer office of Pennsylvania Station, Baltimore. His job was to coordinate mail movement and to act as liaison between the department and the railroads. Later he was detailed to the district office in Baltimore, to help with reorganization of star routes on the Eastern Shore. When Baltimore's district office was discontinued, he transferred to a mobile unit organization in Washington, D. C.

Bujac is married to the former Helen Davis of Cumberland, who is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Davis, Oldtown Road, and the late Mr. Davis. The Bujacs have three children, Mark, Greg and Julie.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — "Pal Joey," one of the all time popular musicals, will be made into a TV spectacular by Hollywood musician Johnny Green and producer Les Hafner. A one and a-half hour version, it will include the original score written by Richard Rodgers and the late Lorenz Hart.

"Pal Joey" has been revived almost every year. Just a few years ago, Columbia made it as a motion picture with Frank Sinatra, Kim Novak and Rita Hayworth.

Johnny had a smile on his face that wouldn't come off—he's so pleased with the deal. David Susskind and others tried to buy the TV rights, but Johnny won out.

It was a joy to hear Anita Loos tell the story of her play "King's Men" which will star Carol Channing, and goes into rehearsal in November. Anita telephoned me that Carol plays Anne of Cleaves, the German wife of Henry VIII, and the only one of his many wives who was a match for him. Anne stood up to him and he tried to get her to re-marry him, but she had had enough.

The play opens about mid-January and Fred Coe (producer of "The Miracle Worker" and "Two For the Seesaw") is the producer. Anita says she found the story in a French book, from which it's adapted.

Jane Morgan, who is in town for a few days to do a commercial, told me that she is meeting her husband Lawrence Stith in New York to decide about their future.

"We love each other," she said, "but Larry doesn't want to travel with me on my singing engagements, and I don't want to give up my career. I have worked too hard, and it's only now beginning to pay off."

She said her husband is now with his family in North Carolina.

"We had just bought a new apartment in New York," said Jane, "but I was only able to spend a few days at a time there with Larry this summer, and he's tired of travelling as he did when we were first married."

Pulling the padlocks off the gates at least long enough to give a luncheon for the press to look at "The Longest Day," the shutdown 20th Century-Fox looked like its old self Wednesday noon.

The particular guests of honor were Irina Demich, leading lady, and her traveling companion, Madame Janine Gille, famed for her activity with the French resistence movement during World War II. Neither lady speaks English—but my personal spy reported that even so he came by some translated news from the fascinating Irina.

In addition to remaining here for the Los Angeles opening on Oct. 11, Irina will go to London for the debut which will be presided over by Princess Margaret. Asked about her reactions to Hollywood she relayed through the translator, "I want to see Disneyland!" Just like Khrushchev when he was a visitor on the same lot.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Accounting Post Filled

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday held an abbreviated meeting in order to participate in the State Road Commission ribbon-cutting ceremony on Long Hill.

On motion of Commissioner John T. Mason and seconded by Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon, Miss Sharon Barkman was appointed temporary clerk-stenographer in the county accounting department, a new position.

Board President John J. Rowan objected to the appointment, claiming that the position war not being filled from the County Civil Service eligible list.

Edward Shuck of Potomac Park informed the commissioners he would be against the possible closing of any streets and alleys in the Peoples Park Amusement Company Addition to LaVale.

A petition had been filed to open certain streets in the addition by George E. Baughman and others. The streets are LaVale Avenue, Park Avenue, Braddock Street and Washington Street.

Shuck said it was his understanding that the petitioners indicated they will file later to have all of these streets and alleys closed. In the event they are closed, access to Shuck's three lots on Park Avenue will be denied.

What Does GNP Really Indicate?

Governmental spending contributes strongly to the record-breaking gross national product which currently is running at a $552 billion annual rate.

The gross national product is the estimated dollar value of all the goods and services the nation turns out in a year. Thus it's a spending rather than a production figure.

The Kennedy administration's fiscal 1963 budget calls for federal spending of $93 billion. In addition, federal trust fund spending for Social Security, highways and other purposes not reflected in the "regular" budget will account for $24.6 billion at least. That brings total federal spending up to $117.6 billion.

State and local governments spent $66.4 billion in fiscal 1961, according to recently released Commerce Department figures, and undoubtedly are spending more than that currently. Thus, aggregate federal, state and local spending adds up to $184 billion at a minimum.

This $184 billion of combined governmental spending accounts for exactly one-third of the present gross national product. The greater the taxing and spending the greater the revered gross national product.

That's something to remember the next time some politician brags about the rising gross national product.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Latin Apathy

There is no reason why the United States should regard any Latin American country as a friendly power, to be aided economically or militarily or by the Peace Corps, which is an economic contribution of the American taxpayers' money, unless that nation specifically and beyond doubt expresses opposition to the regime of Fidel Castro.

This is an extreme attitude. Let us be extreme. Powder-puffism is not for this age—certainly not in a battle against Soviet Russia. The soft word is supposed to turn away wrath, but we cannot wait for something to turn away of its own accord. That involves too much automation.

The 19 assumedly free and independent nations of Latin America have everything to lose from Khrushchev's conquest of Cuba. Should the Dominican Republic go, Haiti will go. Should Brazil go, the little countries on its periphery will go. In a word, this can be the beginning of a conquest of much of Latin America.

What is the Organization of American States—the O.A.S.—waiting for? Naturally, they are waiting for the United States to do the entire job for them. They are waiting for the United States to take the entire risk; to expend men, money, materiel in a war that could weaken the United States while they come in on the kill.

Is this cynical? Not at all. It is history. It is the story of the weaker nations watching for the moment when the Great Powers attack each other and hurt each other and then the smaller countries gain. Great Britain became the leading Power in the world by such a policy. She benefited when the Spaniards fought the Dutch; she benefited from the various wars involving France. Similarly, Japan gained strength because of the series of civil wars in China which began with the Taiping Rebellion (1850-1864) and ended with Japan's participation in World War II in 1945.

President Kennedy's advisers on Latin American affairs are undoubtedly paralyzed by the prospect of a nuclear World War III. They believe that an orderly society will yet prevail; that the United Nations and the Organization of American States, facing the somber facts of the moment, will yet find a formula for peace in the Western Hemisphere.

This is the quandary in which the President finds himself. On the one hand, he is advised that only an orderly society can save the world from the ruthless Russians; on the other hand, he is faced by the very chilling fact that Soviet Russia is presently engaged in a take-over in Cuba. Is the United States prepared to make war on Russia over Cuba? Does the United States wish to take the initiative in such a war? Will Khrushchev retaliate? If so, does that mean World War III? If Khrushchev is bluffing, all President Kennedy needs to do is to drop a bomb on Cuba or something like that. But suppose he is not bluffing?

Here the arm-chair critic is stumped. He cannot favor anything short of war because there is no probability short of war. The error that was made was in permitting Castro to take Cuba and the Eastland Committee has been sitting on a very thorough report and a great volume of testimony that was taken in Executive Session and which this Committee, for political reasons, refuses to publish. It is possible if all this testimony and evidence were published, the American people would be able to pinpoint the responsibility for the Cuban fiasco. Perhaps when Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith's book, "The Fourth Floor," appears, it will be impossible for anyone to suppress the truth any longer.

Be that as it may, nothing is to be expected from the Latin American countries until and unless we kick Castro out of Cuba. Then they will claim part of the victory and will extol themselves about Latin American solidarity. This is the way of politicians and these are no different from any others. If the Russians win, they will denounce the United States; if America wins, they will denounce the Russians.

But we can expect nothing from them today unless we pay for their services and make the payments partial with strict conditions as to the next payment. Will they be insulted? Of course! And increasingly so. But they will come along, for what they are worth.

Right Through The Hole In His Head

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The most important word discussed around the White House and the Pentagon in regard to Cuba these days is "totality." This is not a fancy new Harvard word, but another way of saying that if we move against Castro we have to consider the "total" moves Moscow can make against us.

"Totality" is one reason why, though we have an overwhelming number of airplane carriers, Marines, and Army battle groups in the Caribbean, we don't rush in to invoke the Monroe Doctrine.

—Russia has between 5,000 and 7,000 technicians in Cuba, plus short-range defensive missiles, all 90 miles from the USA.

—The United States has around 10,000 technicians and Air Force troops plus offensive SAC bombers in Turkey, a step across the border from Russia.

—The United States has technicians and supply officers constantly going in and out of Quemoy, only three miles from Red China, plus Matsu, about 12 miles from China.

—The USA has 2,000 men in Thailand within easy striking distance of China.

—The USA has 8,000 men in South Vietnam, also within striking distance of China.

—The USA has 6,000 men in West Berlin, completely surrounded by Russian and East German troops. We also have 200,000 combat troops in West Germany, about 100 to 200 miles from 600,000 Red Army, Polish, and East German troops.

That is the Pentagon box-score on Totality.

State Department Score

The State Department also keeps a box-score on totality. It has the job of figuring out in advance what Russia will do in certain given circumstances, and it hasn't the slightest doubt but that the Kremlin would move into Turkey, Berlin, Iran, and give the green light to China to move into Quemoy, Matsu, South Vietnam and Thailand—if we moved into Cuba.

Our intelligence indicates that some Stalinists have wanted to move into Turkey against our bases in the past, but Khrushchev, who also understands "totality," held them back. We also know that the Red Chinese have twice concentrated troops opposite Quemoy as if to attack, and we know that on one occasion President Eisenhower personally asked Khrushchev to step in and call them off. That was why Khrushchev flew to Peiping after the Camp David talks in September 1959.

Finally, we know we could successfully defend one or two of these bases, but it would be physically impossible to defend all, some of them 8,000 miles away, at one and the same time.

Totality And Monroe Doctrine

Totality also affects the Monroe Doctrine. Most Senators who demand that JFK invoke the Monroe Doctrine don't realize it is a two-way street. President Monroe decreed both that Europe must keep out of the New World and that we would keep out of the Old World.

Monroe's words were: "In the wars of the European poyers . . . we have never taken any part, nor does it comport with our policy to do so."

That was said 139 years ago. Today we are all mixed up in the past wars and the potential wars of Europe, plus the active petty wars of Asia.

Having ignored this phase of the Monroe Doctrine, it's difficult for us to enforce the other phase—both from the point of view of world opinion and especially our own spread-out and diluted physical force.

Another fact about the Monroe Doctrine forgotten by some Senators who don't like Kennedy's calm-down speech: In the days of Monroe it took 30 days for weapons to cross the Atlantic Ocean by sailing ship. Now it takes 30 minutes by missile.

The two oceans were our greatest protection. European powers could not afford to fight wars 30 days away. The difficulty of supplying troops was prohibitive.

Today, not merely long-range missiles make enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine hazardous, if not impossible, but there are also submarines. Adm. Arleigh Burke, when chairman of Eisenhower's Joint Chiefs of Staff, warned that Russia had a fleet of missile-firing subs constantly in Atlantic waters capable of firing inland 750 miles. This would knock off all major industrial cities from Cleveland to Birmingham.

Since the subs lay beyond the three-mile limit, we can't do anything about them, especially since our Polaris subs do exactly the same thing off the Russian coast.

This is what Kennedy means when he talks about totality, and this is why it's easy for Senators Dodd and Bush, Conn., Thurmond, S. C., Scott, Pa., Keating, N. Y., Smathers, Fla., and Jack Miller, Ia., to talk big about the Monroe Doctrine and military intervention but awfully difficult to act on their big words.

Massachusetts Primary And The 'Dynasty Issue'

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Everyone expected Teddy Kennedy to win his Massachusetts primary, but no one expected him to win by quite such an overwhelming margin.

There are several things to be said about this remarkable primary result. To begin with, the huge total of 559,000 votes rolled up by his youngest brother rather plainly means that the President is still extremely popular with the voters, at least in his own state. If the rest of the country feels the same way, the Kennedy coattails may have unforeseen pulling power next November.

Then, too, the vote seems to mean that the voters positively like dynasties, at any rate in Massachusetts. They not only preferred Teddy Kennedy to his opponent by a margin of much more than 2-to-1. In an equally tested Republican primary, they also gave a handsome majority to George Cabot Lodge, a candidate quite as dynastic as any Kennedy.

But the thing that probably most needs to be said about this primary is that the new dynastic system of political analysis contains a sizable element of sheer nonsense.

Obviously, young George Lodge was helped by the fact that his name is honored, because of the public services of his father and his great-grandfather. But he is also a man of character and ability, and by all accounts he made a remarkably impressive campaign for the Republican Senate nomination. If he had not had these extra assets, his name would not have counted for much.

Like Lodge, Teddy Kennedy was no doubt aided by his name, and more than Lodge was aided, too. But years ago President Kennedy warned Tom Winship of the Boston Globe: "Teddy is the best politician in our family." By all accounts, the President's younger brother justified this prediction by an exceptionally energetic, good-tempered, and appealing campaign, while his opponent turned in a pretty poor show. If the roles had been reversed, the result might have been reversed as well.

In truth, what the Republicans like to call the "dynasty issue" must come close to arousing a certain sympathy for the President in any fair-minded person. Outside Massachusetts, it is pretty clear that the President is being hurt politically by the current omnipresence of Kennedys. But what can the President do about it?

He belongs to a large, alarmingly energetic, exceptionally gifted family, most of whom are passionately convinced that politics is the only pursuit worth bothering about. If he had not founded the Kennedy dynasty by winning the Presidency, one may be quite sure that his brother, the Attorney General, would not be trying to found the dynasty by seeking the governorship of Massachusetts—and with a 10-to-1 chance of success.

As it was, the Attorney General played a larger role in the President's election than any other single individual. The President also thought he would make a good Attorney General. So he offered him the place; and in consequence the Justice Department is now under tougher and abler management than it has known in a good many years.

As for his other brother, it is an open secret that the President was very far from enthusiastic about Teddy Kennedy's plan to seek the Massachusetts senatorship. Before Teddy Kennedy announced his candidacy, in fact, it is known, too, that the two brothers had a long, frank talk, in the course of which the President outlined every possible objection with considerable emphasis on the "dynasty" issue.

In other words, he did everything he could to dissuade his brother from running for the Senate, short of the one thing he could not do, Kennedys being Kennedys. Maybe an older brother, who is also President of the U. S., has a right to ask a younger brother to stay in the backroom for a while, in order to spare himself the embarrassment of the younger brother's burst into the limelight. But anyone could foresee that this request would not be made; and it was not.

Hence we have the "dynasty issue." As a practical matter, it must not only be expected to hurt the President a little among the voters; it must also be expected to be a source of occasional embarrassment if and when Teddy Kennedy reaches the Senate, and his every word and vote are laid at the White House door.

All the same, it might be more useful to save up part of the energy now being expended on indignation about this matter, and to invest the energy thus saved in a genetic inquiry into the appearance, in a single family, of three and natural-born politicians as the three Kennedy brothers.

He was greeted with broad smiles by a number of people, and was quite pleased to think that he had become a readily-identifiable public figure.

A little later in the day he boarded a plane to return to Washington. Several passengers on the plane smiled and nodded a greeting to him in recognition.

But one sort of took the delightful edge off of the warm feeling that was being generated within him. He walked up to Goldberg, shook his hand, and blurted: "I want to tell you what a great job you are doing, Senator Javits."

Incidentally, Goldberg's appointment to the high court makes it one of the few times that a Massachusetts jurist is not sitting on the bench. In the court's 173 years of existence, there has been at least one Massachusetts man on the bench in all but 28 of them.

Purveyors of this information are inclined to the belief that this condition comes about because the President is from Massachusetts and wants to spread things around a bit.

Should Writers Read?

By John Crosby

PARIS

"I have not read a novel since 1928, when I started writing them." This from Georges Simenon, probably the most prolific novel writer of our time if not of anyone else's. Perhaps that's the secret of getting so much work done — not reading anyone else's work.

"It's very dangerous for a writer to read novels by a fellow writer," says Simenon. "First, if the novel is very much praised by critics and if you find it falls below your own standards, you say, ah hah, I'm a very great writer, much better than this fellow, and you relax your standards.

"Or the opposite can happen. You pick up a novel in some bookstore that has been totally neglected by the critics, has caused no stir at all, and you are terribly impressed by it. This is very good, you say. Why am I writing novels? This man is so much better than I am and he has got nowhere. In despair you quit writing.

"There's a third reason. Just four years ago, I wrote a novel about the relationship between a father and son. Just six or seven months later, another French writer wrote a novel about a father-son relationship. If he'd done his novel first and I'd read it, I'd never have finished mine. I would have thought the story had been done. After all, there are only 30 possible situations for a play or a novel. If you read enough novels, you will run across all your own plot lines and stop writing. It's a good idea never to read fiction if you write fiction."

Well, it's an interesting idea. This may be one of the reasons Simenon's characters seem so fresh, so newly minted, and so—I can think of no better word—earthy. If he's not reading other men's novels, he's not, consciously or unconsciously, swiping their stuff. He must get his material out of the fresh air, not out of books.

It seems to me there is a fourth reason why writers shouldn't read. Mr. Simenon didn't mention it, but it may be the most important reason of all. Reading is one of the greatest excuses for not writing that has ever been invented. Some day I propose to compile a massive and definitive work on Writers' Excuses For Not Writing.

There are roughly 10 million of them, all excellent, but the leading one, it seems to me, is reading itself. A man has to finish the papers, or he's got to do a little more research. Or read "War and Peace" (one can hardly to serious fiction until one has read "War and Peace," now can one?). And, when all else fails, your serious procrastinator can always fall back on rereading (for the 100th or maybe 200th time) everything he has written so far on his own novel—while the morning wastes away.

Mr. Simenon is not alone in not patronizing his own muse, but his reasons are more honorable and sensible than most. I know movie actors who not only wouldn't be caught dead at their own movies, they can hardly bear to go to anyone else's movies. There are television stars who are far too exhausted never to look at television, especially their own shows.

There is the celebrated newspaper editor in London of an enormously popular and sensational daily newspaper who admitted scornfully on David Brinkley's coast-to-coast television program that he wouldn't dream of reading his own newspaper, which, he confessed, was put out for a much different and lower intelligence than his own.

I asked Mr. Simenon if he read anything at all. "My hobby is medicine," he said gaily. "I read many medical journals — the Lancet from England, French medical journals, German medical journals. Medical periodicals are about the only thing I read."

"You don't even read reviews of your own books?" I exclaimed somewhat incredulously.

"Well," said Georges, whose books are printed in about a million languages all over the world, "I'm intimidated by the sheer weight of them. We get two or three kilos a day—that's about six pounds of clippings. Sometimes my wife finds one and says I absolutely must read this one. So I read it. But you know, I'm too old to care what the reviewers say about me. I'll be 60 next February." (He seems 15 years younger in appearance and 35 years younger in the joy of living.) "Everyone called Hemingway the old man. No one calls me the old man. I'm jealous."

I don't think anyone will ever call him the old man.

An Old Country Fungus Moves To Town

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Histoplasmosis is an old rural disease that is moving to the cities. It is caused by a yeast-like fungus that settles in various tissues but prefers the lungs. The causative organisms are found in barns and in soil contaminated usually by bird droppings.

Four Missouri Boy Scouts developed fever and cough and were taken to the same hospital. Chest X-ray findings suggested histoplasmosis. It took a few moments of detective work to discover that these boys had worked with 60 other scouts in the same area of a city park.

Members of the scout group were contacted and skin and blood tests for histoplasmosis were done, along with the chest X-rays. Only 10 had been ill but 97 per cent of those who had worked in the park had a positive skin test, 60 per cent had a positive blood test, and 47 per cent showed an active lesion on X-ray. Studies were conducted on another group of scouts who had not worked in the park and 41, 25 and 25 per cent had positive tests in the order of those mentioned above.

These boys came from a part of Missouri which is in a highly contaminated area. Sixty-two per cent of all the soil samples collected from the park contained the fungus. H. capsulatum. Soil samples taken from six sites within a radius of 3 miles showed only one positive culture. Why was the park contaminated? It was populated by thousands of starlings, whose droppings almost completely covered the ground.

The infection is not transmitted directly from person to person but is inhaled in the contaminated dust from the soil. Pigeons and chickens are the most common offenders. In the central part of the United States, up to 75 per cent of the population show evil dence of having had this disease in that skin or blood tests are positive.

Less than 5 per cent of this number develop symptoms and, until we had the above tests, the condition was diagnosed only in this small percentage. No wonder it was considered a rare disease. The important consideration is that the lung findings of histoplasmosis mimic tuberculosis and a mistake might be made unless the proper tests are done.

GLAUCOMA IN THE FAMILY

B. C. writes: My grandmother, mother, and brother have glaucoma and, sad to say, are nearly blind. I'm afraid I'll get it as I grow older. What about my children? Is it contagious? Is it hereditary?

REPLY

Glaucoma is not contagious but hereditary plays a role. It is the price some of us pay for living past 40. With your background pay particular attention to early symptoms and consult an ophthalmologist as quickly as possible should vision become misty or halos appear around lights. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on glaucoma.

COFFEE PEPS HIM UP

M. V. writes: My husband has low blood pressure. Could this be due to drinking an excessive amount of coffee?

REPLY

No. We don't know why some people have low blood pressure but we do know they live longer than those with high blood pressure. Your husband is fortunate.

WEIGHT LIFTING AND PALSY

A. D. writes: I contracted Bell's palsy on the left side of the face. After recovery will I be able to return to weight lifting?

REPLY

Yes. I doubt if you use your facial muscles to lift weights.

TOMORROW: Crash cold vaccine program.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A funny thing happened in a California college recently. The professor who was conducting a course in religion suddenly sprang an unpleasant surprise on his class: an examination for which not one student was prepared.

As was his custom, the professor asked for a volunteer to lead the class in prayer. One ingenious student jumped to his feet and proceeded to pray aloud for the entire hour, without giving the professor the ghost of a chance to interrupt. When the bell sounded at the end of the hour, he breathed a fervent "Amen," and the enraptured students — unexamined — tripped lightly out of the classroom.

"Be sure you know what you're doing," a father cautioned his son, who had just announced that he was going to get married. "You will have not only another mouth to feed, but a great big one to listen to."

Dorothy Parker ended one of her scathing book reviews with a characteristic flourish. "I suppose," she conceded, "that this is another of those young writers who is worth watching. Not reading; just watching."

Saddest election day story of all is told by Herb Shriner. They closed the saloon all day in his home town to comply with state law—and every voter was locked in.

What Does GNP Really Indicate?

Governmental spending contributes strongly to the record-breaking gross national product which currently is running at a $552 billion annual rate.

The gross national product is the estimated dollar value of all the goods and services the nation turns out in a year. Thus it's a spending rather than a production figure.

The Kennedy administration's fiscal 1963 budget calls for federal spending of $93 billion. In addition, federal trust fund spending for Social Security, highways and other purposes not reflected in the "regular" budget will account for $24.6 billion at least. That brings total federal spending up to $117.6 billion.

State and local governments spent $66.4 billion in fiscal 1961, according to recently released Commerce Department figures, and undoubtedly are spending more than that currently. Thus, aggregate federal, state and local spending adds up to $184 billion at a minimum.

This $184 billion of combined governmental spending accounts for exactly one-third of the present gross national product. The greater the taxing and spending the greater the revered gross national product.

That's something to remember the next time some politician brags about the rising gross national product.

These Days

Latin Apathy

There is no reason why the United States should regard any Latin American country as a friendly power, to be aided economically or militarily or by the Peace Corps, which is an economic contribution of the American taxpayers' money, unless that nation specifically and beyond doubt expresses opposition to the regime of Fidel Castro.

This is an extreme attitude. Let us be extreme. Powder-puffism is not for this age—certainly not in a battle against Soviet Russia. The soft word is supposed to turn away wrath, but we cannot wait for something to turn away of its own accord. That involves too much automation.

The 19 assumedly free and independent nations of Latin America have everything to lose from Khrushchev's conquest of Cuba. Should the Dominican Republic go, Haiti will go. Should Brazil go, the little countries on its periphery will go. In a word, this can be the beginning of a conquest of much of Latin America.

What is the Organization of American States—the O.A.S.—waiting for? Naturally, they are waiting for the United States to do the entire job for them. They are waiting for the United States to take the entire risk; to expend men, money, materiel in a war that could weaken the United States while they come in on the kill.

Is this cynical? Not at all. It is history. It is the story of the weaker nations watching for the moment when the Great Powers attack each other and hurt each other and then the smaller countries gain. Great Britain became the leading Power in the world by such a policy. She benefited when the Spaniards fought the Dutch; she benefited from the various wars involving France. Similarly, Japan gained strength because of the series of civil wars in China which began with the Taiping Rebellion (1850-1864) and ended with Japan's participation in World War II in 1945.

President Kennedy's advisers on Latin American affairs are undoubtedly paralyzed by the prospect of a nuclear World War III. They believe that an orderly society will yet prevail; that the United Nations and the Organization of American States, facing the somber facts of the moment, will yet find a formula for peace in the Western Hemisphere.

This is the quandary in which the President finds himself. On the one hand, he is advised that only an orderly society can save the world from the ruthless Russians; on the other hand, he is faced by the very chilling fact that Soviet Russia is presently engaged in a take-over in Cuba. Is the United States prepared to make war on Russia over Cuba? Does the United States wish to take the initiative in such a war? Will Khrushchev retaliate? If so, does that mean World War III? If Khrushchev is bluffing, all President Kennedy needs to do is to drop a bomb on Cuba or something like that. But suppose he is not bluffing?

Here the arm-chair critic is stumped. He cannot favor anything short of war because there is no probability short of war. The error that was made was in permitting Castro to take Cuba and the Eastland Committee has been sitting on a very thorough report and a great volume of testimony that was taken in Executive Session and which this Committee, for political reasons, refuses to publish. It is possible if all this testimony and evidence were published, the American people would be able to pinpoint the responsibility for the Cuban fiasco. Perhaps when Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith's book, "The Fourth Floor," appears, it will be impossible for anyone to suppress the truth any longer.

Be that as it may, nothing is to be expected from the Latin American countries until and unless we kick Castro out of Cuba. Then they will claim part of the victory and will extol themselves about Latin American solidarity. This is the way of politicians and these are no different from any others. If the Russians win, they will denounce the United States; if America wins, they will denounce the Russians.

But we can expect nothing from them today unless we pay for their services and make the payments partial with strict conditions as to the next payment. Will they be insulted? Of course! And increasingly so. But they will come along, for what they are worth.

Right Through The Hole In His Head

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The most important word discussed around the White House and the Pentagon in regard to Cuba these days is "totality." This is not a fancy new Harvard word, but another way of saying that if we move against Castro we have to consider the "total" moves Moscow can make against us.

"Totality" is one reason why, though we have an overwhelming number of airplane carriers, Marines, and Army battle groups in the Caribbean, we don't rush in to invoke the Monroe Doctrine.

—Russia has between 5,000 and 7,000 technicians in Cuba, plus short-range defensive missiles, all 90 miles from the USA.

—The United States has around 10,000 technicians and Air Force troops plus offensive SAC bombers in Turkey, a step across the border from Russia.

—The United States has technicians and supply officers constantly going in and out of Quemoy, only three miles from Red China, plus Matsu, about 12 miles from China.

—The USA has 2,000 men in Thailand within easy striking distance of China.

—The USA has 8,000 men in South Vietnam, also within striking distance of China.

—The USA has 6,000 men in West Berlin, completely surrounded by Russian and East German troops. We also have 200,000 combat troops in West Germany, about 100 to 200 miles from 600,000 Red Army, Polish, and East German troops.

That is the Pentagon box-score on Totality.

State Department Score

The State Department also keeps a box-score on totality. It has the job of figuring out in advance what Russia will do in certain given circumstances, and it hasn't the slightest doubt but that the Kremlin would move into Turkey, Berlin, Iran, and give the green light to China to move into Quemoy, Matsu, South Vietnam and Thailand—if we moved into Cuba.

Our intelligence indicates that some Stalinists have wanted to move into Turkey against our bases in the past, but Khrushchev, who also understands "totality," held them back. We also know that the Red Chinese have twice concentrated troops opposite Quemoy as if to attack, and we know that on one occasion President Eisenhower personally asked Khrushchev to step in and call them off. That was why Khrushchev flew to Peiping after the Camp David talks in September 1959.

Finally, we know we could successfully defend one or two of these bases, but it would be physically impossible to defend all, some of them 8,000 miles away, at one and the same time.

Totality And Monroe Doctrine

Totality also affects the Monroe Doctrine. Most Senators who demand that JFK invoke the Monroe Doctrine don't realize it is a two-way street. President Monroe decreed both that Europe must keep out of the New World and that we would keep out of the Old World.

Monroe's words were: "In the wars of the European poyers . . . we have never taken any part, nor does it comport with our policy to do so."

That was said 139 years ago. Today we are all mixed up in the past wars and the potential wars of Europe, plus the active petty wars of Asia.

Having ignored this phase of the Monroe Doctrine, it's difficult for us to enforce the other phase—both from the point of view of world opinion and especially our own spread-out and diluted physical force.

Another fact about the Monroe Doctrine forgotten by some Senators who don't like Kennedy's calm-down speech: In the days of Monroe it took 30 days for weapons to cross the Atlantic Ocean by sailing ship. Now it takes 30 minutes by missile.

The two oceans were our greatest protection. European powers could not afford to fight wars 30 days away. The difficulty of supplying troops was prohibitive.

But one sort of took the delightful edge off of the warm feeling that was being generated within him. He walked up to Goldberg, shook his hand, and blurted: "I want to tell you what a great job you are doing, Senator Javits."

Incidentally, Goldberg's appointment to the high court makes it one of the few times that a Massachusetts jurist is not sitting on the bench. In the court's 173 years of existence, there has been at least one Massachusetts man on the bench in all but 28 of them.

Purveyors of this information are inclined to the belief that this condition comes about because the President is from Massachusetts and wants to spread things around a bit.

An Old Country Fungus Moves To Town

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Histoplasmosis is an old rural disease that is moving to the cities. It is caused by a yeast-like fungus that settles in various tissues but prefers the lungs. The causative organisms are found in barns and in soil contaminated usually by bird droppings.

Four Missouri Boy Scouts developed fever and cough and were taken to the same hospital. Chest X-ray findings suggested histoplasmosis. It took a few moments of detective work to discover that these boys had worked with 60 other scouts in the same area of a city park.

Members of the scout group were contacted and skin and blood tests for histoplasmosis were done, along with the chest X-rays. Only 10 had been ill but 97 per cent of those who had worked in the park had a positive skin test, 60 per cent had a positive blood test, and 47 per cent showed an active lesion on X-ray. Studies were conducted on another group of scouts who had not worked in the park and 41, 25 and 25 per cent had positive tests in the order of those mentioned above.

These boys came from a part of Missouri which is in a highly contaminated area. Sixty-two per cent of all the soil samples collected from the park contained the fungus. H. capsulatum. Soil samples taken from six sites within a radius of 3 miles showed only one positive culture. Why was the park contaminated? It was populated by thousands of starlings, whose droppings almost completely covered the ground.

The infection is not transmitted directly from person to person but is inhaled in the contaminated dust from the soil. Pigeons and chickens are the most common offenders. In the central part of the United States, up to 75 per cent of the population show evil dence of having had this disease in that skin or blood tests are positive.

Less than 5 per cent of this number develop symptoms and, until we had the above tests, the condition was diagnosed only in this small percentage. No wonder it was considered a rare disease. The important consideration is that the lung findings of histoplasmosis mimic tuberculosis and a mistake might be made unless the proper tests are done.

GLAUCOMA IN THE FAMILY

B. C. writes: My grandmother, mother, and brother have glaucoma and, sad to say, are nearly blind. I'm afraid I'll get it as I grow older. What about my children? Is it contagious? Is it hereditary?

REPLY

Glaucoma is not contagious but hereditary plays a role. It is the price some of us pay for living past 40. With your background pay particular attention to early symptoms and consult an ophthalmologist as quickly as possible should vision become misty or halos appear around lights. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on glaucoma.

COFFEE PEPS HIM UP

M. V. writes: My husband has low blood pressure. Could this be due to drinking an excessive amount of coffee?

REPLY

No. We don't know why some people have low blood pressure but we do know they live longer than those with high blood pressure. Your husband is fortunate.

WEIGHT LIFTING AND PALSY

A. D. writes: I contracted Bell's palsy on the left side of the face. After recovery will I be able to return to weight lifting?

REPLY

Yes. I doubt if you use your facial muscles to lift weights.

TOMORROW: Crash cold vaccine program.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A funny thing happened in a California college recently. The professor who was conducting a course in religion suddenly sprang an unpleasant surprise on his class: an examination for which not one student was prepared.

As was his custom, the professor asked for a volunteer to lead the class in prayer. One ingenious student jumped to his feet and proceeded to pray aloud for the entire hour, without giving the professor the ghost of a chance to interrupt. When the bell sounded at the end of the hour, he breathed a fervent "Amen," and the enraptured students — unexamined — tripped lightly out of the classroom.

"Be sure you know what you're doing," a father cautioned his son, who had just announced that he was going to get married. "You will have not only another mouth to feed, but a great big one to listen to."

Saddest election day story of all is told by Herb Shriner. They closed the saloon all day in his home town to comply with state law—and every voter was locked in.

Should Writers Read?

By John Crosby

PARIS

"I have not read a novel since 1928, when I started writing them." This from Georges Simenon, probably the most prolific novel writer of our time if not of anyone else's. Perhaps that's the secret of getting so much work done — not reading anyone else's work.

"It's very dangerous for a writer to read novels by a fellow writer," says Simenon. "First, if the novel is very much praised by critics and if you find it falls below your own standards, you say, ah hah, I'm a very great writer, much better than this fellow, and you relax your standards.

"Or the opposite can happen. You pick up a novel in some bookstore that has been totally neglected by the critics, has caused no stir at all, and you are terribly impressed by it. This is very good, you say. Why am I writing novels? This man is so much better than I am and he has got nowhere. In despair you quit writing.

"There's a third reason. Just four years ago, I wrote a novel about the relationship between a father and son. Just six or seven months later, another French writer wrote a novel about a father-son relationship. If he'd done his novel first and I'd read it, I'd never have finished mine. I would have thought the story had been done. After all, there are only 30 possible situations for a play or a novel. If you read enough novels, you will run across all your own plot lines and stop writing. It's a good idea never to read fiction if you write fiction."

Well, it's an interesting idea. This may be one of the reasons Simenon's characters seem so fresh, so newly minted, and so—I can think of no better word—earthy. If he's not reading other men's novels, he's not, consciously or unconsciously, swiping their stuff. He must get his material out of the fresh air, not out of books.

It seems to me there is a fourth reason why writers shouldn't read. Mr. Simenon didn't mention it, but it may be the most important reason of all. Reading is one of the greatest excuses for not writing that has ever been invented. Some day I propose to compile a massive and definitive work on Writers' Excuses For Not Writing.

There are roughly 10 million of them, all excellent, but the leading one, it seems to me, is reading itself. A man has to finish the papers, or he's got to do a little more research. Or read "War and Peace" (one can hardly to serious fiction until one has read "War and Peace," now can one?). And, when all else fails, your serious procrastinator can always fall back on rereading (for the 100th or maybe 200th time) everything he has written so far on his own novel—while the morning wastes away.

Mr. Simenon is not alone in not patronizing his own muse, but his reasons are more honorable and sensible than most. I know movie actors who not only wouldn't be caught dead at their own movies, they can hardly bear to go to anyone else's movies. There are television stars who are far too exhausted never to look at television, especially their own shows.

There is the celebrated newspaper editor in London of an enormously popular and sensational daily newspaper who admitted scornfully on David Brinkley's coast-to-coast television program that he wouldn't dream of reading his own newspaper, which, he confessed, was put out for a much different and lower intelligence than his own.

I asked Mr. Simenon if he read anything at all. "My hobby is medicine," he said gaily. "I read many medical journals — the Lancet from England, French medical journals, German medical journals. Medical periodicals are about the only thing I read."

"You don't even read reviews of your own books?" I exclaimed somewhat incredulously.

"Well," said Georges, whose books are printed in about a million languages all over the world, "I'm intimidated by the sheer weight of them. We get two or three kilos a day—that's about six pounds of clippings. Sometimes my wife finds one and says I absolutely must read this one. So I read it. But you know, I'm too old to care what the reviewers say about me. I'll be 60 next February." (He seems 15 years younger in appearance and 35 years younger in the joy of living.) "Everyone called Hemingway the old man. No one calls me the old man. I'm jealous."

I don't think anyone will ever call him the old man.

W. Va. Reports Second Best Economic Year

Report Is Made At Chamber Meeting

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Last year was the second best year in the economic history of West Virginia, the State Chamber of Commerce reported Friday.

The report was made in the chamber's annual Review Number of the monthly West Virginia business Index.

The chamber said its composite index of the state's economy "indicates that the 1961 version of West Virginia's economy stands at 411."

The highest level ever attained, the report said, was 415 in 1957—the state's peak boom year. In 1960, the index reached 405.

The index is based on equally weighted data in five basic areas of the economy—bank debits, department stores, personal income, coal production and electric power output, and is computed on a 1935-39 average of 100.

The index showed that records were set during 1961 in:

—Personal income, $3.12 million, up 1 per cent from the 1960 record.

—Assessed valuation of property, $4.11 billion, up 2.7 per cent.

—Receipts of state and local governments, $473 million, up 9.4 per cent.

—Postal receipts, $10.6 million, up 2.4 per cent; bank deposits, $1.34 billion, up 6.5 per cent; life insurance sales, $314 million, up 8.5 per cent; electric power output, 16.8 billion kilowatt hours, up 18.4 per cent, and expenditures of state and local governments, $466.7 million, up 10.2 per cent.

FSTC Seniors Are Given Awards For Wall Maps

FROSTBURG — Two seniors at Frostburg State Teachers College are recipients of awards for their entries in the National Middle-Grade Activities contest, sponsored by Scott Foresman & Company, educational publishers.

Miss Lenora Gateau, a graduate of Suitland High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gateau, 5705 N Street, S.E., Washington, and Miss Barbara Krumpe, an alumna of South Hagerstown High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Krumpe, 32 West Baltimore Street, Funkstown, received four-color pictorial wall maps as honorable mention prizes in the annual Bulletin Board Display Contest.

Four fourth grade students in Mrs. Margaret Hamilton's class at the Thomas G. Pullen School made the pictures explaining the many uses of the globe. The youngsters are Glenn Workman, Ann Van Newkirk, Helen Chaney and Philip Harvey. Colored pictures of the project at various stages of development were submitted.

The contest was open to classroom teachers throughout the country. Five first-prize and 30 honorable mentions were given. The two Frostburg students had no teaching experience, but were members of Homer Pankey's methods class in "The Elementary Child and His Curriculum." They had been studying the theory of social science teaching and had made the bulletin board displays as the culminating activity of their project.

"The display was a direct result of their methods course and was planned as part of a class project to be used in the Pullen School," stated Mr. Pankey.

"The elementary education program at Frostburg State Teachers College is moving ahead through the 10-hour block program introduced last year," he said.

Students preparing for elementary teaching are given methods course in the language arts, arithmetic, social studies, science, art, music and physical education by several members of the college faculty.

The students then prepare projects in the various subjects and directly apply the theory of the classroom to actual teaching in the Pullen School.

Coal Dealers Hope To Gain More Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bituminous coal industry says it is fighting its way back to recapture a larger percentage of the nation's energy market.

A biennial handbook, "Bituminous Coal Facts — 1962," issued Thursday said the industry supplied only 25 per cent of the energy market last year as compared to half as recently as 1943.

But the handbook noted that output this year is running ahead of 1961's 400 million ton rate.

The industry says it can supply an increasing share of the nation's expanding demands for energy if given fair competitive conditions and a chance to solve some of its present problems.

Coal last year produced 31 per cent of the energy consumed in fields where it competes with other fuels, "Coal Facts" said. This is excluding non-competitive uses like motor fuel.

Natural gas contributed 35.1 per cent, petroleum products 27 per cent, water power 5.5 per cent and anthracite 1.4 per cent.

The handbook said the electric utility industry continues to be coal's biggest customers, consuming nearly 180 million tons of coal last year.

W.Va. Labor Force Study Is Underway In District

KEYSER — Residents of Mineral County, as well as neighboring areas, are reminded that the labor force study is now underway throughout Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Mineral, Morgan, Pendleton, Randolph, and Tucker counties.

The Manpower Resources Survey Division of the State Department of Employment Security has announced that survey forms for employers selected to participate in this study were mailed last Thursday and that the survey is fully dependent upon the voluntary cooperation of the employers contacted. It was stressed that the survey, if completed by September 30, will produce best results.

Importance was noted in the thoroughness and accuracy by which the forms are completed. The meaningful results of this labor force study will be able to determine the skill levels of employed persons in all different phases of industry at the present time.

Technical advancements in methods of production have in many ways created jobs that demand more education and additional training. In addition many jobs that have been pertinent to industrial operations in the past have become obsolete. This study will analyze these factors and will be published in a general report to be distributed throughout the entire area.

Employers are asked to extend their full cooperation in making this study a success by completing and returning the survey forms at an early date.

All unemployed persons in the 10-county area should be on the alert for card survey forms that will be distributed via rural and star routes, P.O. box delivery and in certain larger towns of the area by the Boys Scouts of America. Forms will also be available during the entire week of the survey in the lobbies of all post offices of the area.

Officials stress for the person to bear in mind that the forms are not offers of work but are part of a labor force survey.

W. Va. Reports Second Best Economic Year

Report Is Made At Chamber Meeting

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Last year was the second best year in the economic history of West Virginia, the State Chamber of Commerce reported Friday.

The report was made in the chamber's annual Review Number of the monthly West Virginia business Index.

The chamber said its composite index of the state's economy "indicates that the 1961 version of West Virginia's economy stands at 411."

The highest level ever attained, the report said, was 415 in 1957—the state's peak boom year. In 1960, the index reached 405.

The index is based on equally weighted data in five basic areas of the economy—bank debits, department stores, personal income, coal production and electric power output, and is computed on a 1935-39 average of 100.

The index showed that records were set during 1961 in:

—Personal income, $3.12 million, up 1 per cent from the 1960 record.

—Assessed valuation of property, $4.11 billion, up 2.7 per cent.

—Receipts of state and local governments, $473 million, up 9.4 per cent.

—Postal receipts, $10.6 million, up 2.4 per cent; bank deposits, $1.34 billion, up 6.5 per cent; life insurance sales, $314 million, up 8.5 per cent; electric power output, 16.8 billion kilowatt hours, up 18.4 per cent, and expenditures of state and local governments, $466.7 million, up 10.2 per cent.

A graduate of Keyser High School, the local soldier entered the Army in July of 1954. After completing basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division until July, 1955, he was assigned to the Department of Army at Washington until August 1957.

He entered Officer Candidate School in September, 1957, as a sergeant and was commissioned in March, 1958, at Fort Benning, Ga. After two years at Fort Knox, Ky., as a platoon leader and special staff member, he was graduated from Fixed Wing School in July 1960.

Canfield served in Korea as a pilot in the 7th Infantry Division and was assigned to Fort Huachuca in September of 1961. He was graduated from helicopter school in July of this year and was rated as a paratrooper, helicopter and fixed wing pilot.

FROSTBURG — Two seniors at Frostburg State Teachers College are recipients of awards for their entries in the National Middle-Grade Activities contest, sponsored by Scott Foresman & Company, educational publishers.

Miss Lenora Gateau, a graduate of Suitland High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gateau, 5705 N Street, S.E., Washington, and Miss Barbara Krumpe, an alumna of South Hagerstown High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Krumpe, 32 West Baltimore Street, Funkstown, received four-color pictorial wall maps as honorable mention prizes in the annual Bulletin Board Display Contest.

Four fourth grade students in Mrs. Margaret Hamilton's class at the Thomas G. Pullen School made the pictures explaining the many uses of the globe. The youngsters are Glenn Workman, Ann Van Newkirk, Helen Chaney and Philip Harvey. Colored pictures of the project at various stages of development were submitted.

The contest was open to classroom teachers throughout the country. Five first-prize and 30 honorable mentions were given. The two Frostburg students had no teaching experience, but were members of Homer Pankey's methods class in "The Elementary Child and His Curriculum." They had been studying the theory of social science teaching and had made the bulletin board displays as the culminating activity of their project.

"The display was a direct result of their methods course and was planned as part of a class project to be used in the Pullen School," stated Mr. Pankey.

"The elementary education program at Frostburg State Teachers College is moving ahead through the 10-hour block program introduced last year," he said.

Students preparing for elementary teaching are given methods course in the language arts, arithmetic, social studies, science, art, music and physical education by several members of the college faculty.

The students then prepare projects in the various subjects and directly apply the theory of the classroom to actual teaching in the Pullen School.

Coal Dealers Hope To Gain More Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bituminous coal industry says it is fighting its way back to recapture a larger percentage of the nation's energy market.

A biennial handbook, "Bituminous Coal Facts — 1962," issued Thursday said the industry supplied only 25 per cent of the energy market last year as compared to half as recently as 1943.

But the handbook noted that output this year is running ahead of 1961's 400 million ton rate.

The industry says it can supply an increasing share of the nation's expanding demands for energy if given fair competitive conditions and a chance to solve some of its present problems.

Coal last year produced 31 per cent of the energy consumed in fields where it competes with other fuels, "Coal Facts" said. This is excluding non-competitive uses like motor fuel.

Natural gas contributed 35.1 per cent, petroleum products 27 per cent, water power 5.5 per cent and anthracite 1.4 per cent.

The handbook said the electric utility industry continues to be coal's biggest customers, consuming nearly 180 million tons of coal last year.

W.Va. Labor Force Study Is Underway In District

KEYSER — Residents of Mineral County, as well as neighboring areas, are reminded that the labor force study is now underway throughout Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Mineral, Morgan, Pendleton, Randolph, and Tucker counties.

The Manpower Resources Survey Division of the State Department of Employment Security has announced that survey forms for employers selected to participate in this study were mailed last Thursday and that the survey is fully dependent upon the voluntary cooperation of the employers contacted. It was stressed that the survey, if completed by September 30, will produce best results.

Importance was noted in the thoroughness and accuracy by which the forms are completed. The meaningful results of this labor force study will be able to determine the skill levels of employed persons in all different phases of industry at the present time.

Technical advancements in methods of production have in many ways created jobs that demand more education and additional training. In addition many jobs that have been pertinent to industrial operations in the past have become obsolete. This study will analyze these factors and will be published in a general report to be distributed throughout the entire area.

Employers are asked to extend their full cooperation in making this study a success by completing and returning the survey forms at an early date.

All unemployed persons in the 10-county area should be on the alert for card survey forms that will be distributed via rural and star routes, P.O. box delivery and in certain larger towns of the area by the Boys Scouts of America. Forms will also be available during the entire week of the survey in the lobbies of all post offices of the area.

Officials stress for the person to bear in mind that the forms are not offers of work but are part of a labor force survey.

By TED TROXELL

Allegany's heretofore offensively lifeless Campers had a grand awakening last night at Fort Hill Stadium, where they scored a 19-6 victory over North Hagerstown in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League clash.

The Campers hadn't scored a point in their last four ball games, including two at the end of the 1961 season, but they quickly crossed the goal last night and repeated the feat twice more before the rewarding evening ended.

Less than seven minutes had elapsed in the first period when Frank Williams scored the Campers' long-overdue six-pointer on a six-yard end sweep. That first score was set up when Jim Bowman returned Denny Wachter's punt 39 yards from the North High 48 to the nine. The Campers required only two plays to push the ball across.

Chance Doesn't Come

The visiting Hubs, trying to ride in on the strong right arm of quarterback Wachter, didn't manage a touchdown until late in the fourth period. When Craig Ingram took a handoff and went over from 13 yards out, it made the score 13-6 to theoretically keep the Hagerstown eleven in the game, but the chance didn't come.

Allegany had the ball for all but two seconds of the remaining three minutes and 55 seconds. Reserve halfback Bob Robinson scored on a five-yard pass from Fred Shank with just two seconds to go, and the game ended on the ensuing kickoff.

Coach Ed Schwarz' Campers, accused of late of over-conservatism on the field, used a bit of daring in the third period and it paid off in the form of touchdown number two. On a third-and-one situation, the Campers lined up to make tackle Craig Sisk eligible as a receiver, and receive he did, hauling in Shank's pass at the North 19 and lugging it the rest of the way for the score. The play covered 42 yards.

Wachter Completes 6-20

Wachter, a better-than-average flinger, attempted 20 passes and completed only six for 81 yards. In mast instances, he overshot his intended receivers, although on several occasions North scoring opportunities literally slipped through the fingers of the senior signal-caller's targets.

The Campers' record now reads like a picket fence (1-1-1). They lost their opener to Bishop Guilfoyle High of Altoona (13-0) and last week battled Martinsburg to a scoreless deadlock. North High's lok now stands at 0-3.

Colts Favored Over Vikings

Steelers Picked To Beat Cowboys

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers and Cleveland Browns, favorites to wind up in the National Football League's championship playoff, face easy pickin's Sunday, although don't mention that word "easy" to their coaches.

The men who make the odds, however, ignore the word "letdown" and so the Packers are favored by 14 points over the St. Louis Cardinals at Milwaukee and the Browns are 16-point choices at home over the Washington Redskins.

In the Eastern Division's top game at Philadelphia, the New York Giants are picked by 3 points over the Eagles, while the Chicago Bears are favored by 3 over the Rams at Los Angeles; the Baltimore Colts by 6 over the Vikings at Minnesota; the Pittsburgh Steelers by 6 over the Cowboys at Dallas; and the Detroit Lions by 7 at home over the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Beall High School's Mountaineers buried Southern High School of Oakland under an avalanche of seven touchdowns last night in rolling to their third straight victory of the season by the score of 45-7 before 1,300 spectators at Beall High School Stadium.

After being held scoreless in the opening period, Beall broke loose for two touchdowns in the second period, two in the third and three in the final stanza.

Southern scored its only td in the first period when Jon Thayer ran over from the 4-yard line and also plunged the point to give the Garrett countians a 7-0 lead.

In the second period Ralph Spriggs scored for Beall on a 76-yard run and Carl Smith scooted 37 yards after which Jim Brady ran the point to give the Mountaineers a 13-7 advantage.

Wayne Harper tallied from the eight and Spriggs galloped 91 yards for the Beall six-pointers in the third quarter.

Willie Lynn, sophomore, set up the fifth score in the third period with a 42-yard sprint to the three and carried the ball over on the next play. Freshman John Chaney kicked the point to make it 32-7.

In the final period, Morey Linn returned a punt 60 yards for a score and Tom Husselbaugh made the final td on an 18-yard run.

50,000 May See Fourth Race Of Yachting Series

Crews Concerned Over Spectator Fleet

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The largest spectator fleet ever to follow a yacht race—a flotilla of 3,000 vessels with a cargo of 50,000 fans, including President and Mrs. Kennedy—is expected to swarm into the Atlantic Saturday for the fourth America's Cup clash between Weatherly and Gretel.

"It could be a madhouse," a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said Friday. "If it's a good day, you'll be able to walk across the bay without getting your shoes wet."

To meet the situation, the Coast Guard has brought down additional boats from Boston to reinforce its cutter patrol and has warned of fines up to $500 for persons violating the race area. The start of last Saturday's race was delayed an hour by unruly spectator craft.

The camps of the defender Weatherly and the gritty Australian challenger, Gretel, both enjoying an off day, appeared more concerned about the potential spectator fleet than the possible weather.

The fourth race, like the second won by Gretel by a margin of 47 seconds, will be over a 24-mile triangular course—the first eight miles upwind, followed by two reaches of eight miles each. Starting time is 11:10 a.m. EST.

The first and third races, won by Weatherly, were over an upwind-downwind course. In both, as on the windward leg of the second, the American sloop demonstrated definite superiority beating to weather.

Fort Hill's Sentinels kept their record unblemished by squeezing out a 20-13 decision over the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs last night in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game at Martinsburg. It was the third straight win of the season for Fort Hill.

Held to a 13-13 tie in the first half, Coach Charles Lattimer's eleven won the game in the third period when Colin Smith tallied from the nine-yard line on a pitchout and Pat Wilson booted the extra point.

On the second half kickoff Martinsburg's safety man blundered in allowing the ball to roll and Smith fell on the pigskin on Martinsburg's 15. On the first play Smith advanced to the 13 and after Delbert Proudfoot had carried to the nine, Smith went from there with what proved to be the deciding score.

Fort Hill scored in the first period on the fourth play of the game when Proudfoot took Williams' pass and ran for the touchdown on a play that covered 44 yards. Wilson kicked the extra point.

Martinsburg then drove 66 yards in ten plays with Doug Stewart going over from the one. The run for extra point was stopped.

John Hylton put the Bulldogs in front in the second period by smashing over from the 5 and Reuter added the point on a run. Reuter had set up this score by intercepting a pass on the Martinsburg 49 and 11 plays later the home team tallied.

Fort Hill rolled 55 yards in ten plays to knot the score at 13-13 later in the second period with Rich Robinson accounting for the td on a run from the three. Reuter blocked Wilson's try for the point.

Frostburg State Gridders Open At Home Today With Shepherd

Potomac State Will Invade Glenville; Bruce At Hancock

Frostburg State's Bobcats open their second season of football today when they play host to Coach Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd College Rams at Beall High School stadium at 2 o'clock.

Area Players On Squad

Twenty-five of the 45 members of the Bobcat squad are from the immediate tri-state area. Nine come from Beall High School, five from Fort Hill, four each from Allegany and LaSalle and one each from Bruce, Southern and Keyser.

Cumberland players on the squad are Glen Davis, Fred Wartzack, William Beckward and Mike McKenzie, Allegany grads; Bill Hyde, Edward Finn, Vic Twigg, Larry Shumaker, George Allen, Jerry Cole, Jerry Delaney, Jim Evans and Joe Stevens, of Beall; Gary Holtzman, Eddie Shoup, Ken Poling and Dave Clem, of Fort Hill; Wayne Wilhelm, Edward Bush, Jack Gilmore and Jim Delaney, of LaSalle; Bob Shaw, Keyser; Bill Wiltison, Bruce, and Henry McRobie, of Southern at Oakland.

Shepherd is coached by Jesse Riggleman, former Ridgeley and Petersburg mentor, who is in his 7th year as mentor of the Shepherdstown team. Jesse's record to date is 26-19-2, which includes a 13-13 tie in last week's opener with Fairmont State's Falcons. The Rams defeated Frostburg State last year, 29-6.

Officials for the game will be John Shelton, John Fox, Bob Pence and Hubert Feeney.

Harold Cordts, athletic director, announced yesterday that season tickets are now available at $4 for four home games.

Potomac At Glenville

Potomac State College will be playing its 196th game under Coach Dana "Horse" Lough when it pries off the lid against Glenville College's Pioneers today at Glenville, W. Va. Over 24 seasons Lough's Catamount elevens have won 97, lost 88 and played ten tie games. Potomac did not field grid teams in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Glenville has a new coach this year in Jess Lilly with Leland Byrd and Bill Douglas as assistants. The Pioneers have 18 letter-men back and 14 of the returnees were regulars last year. Glenville dropped its season opener to the West Liberty College Hilltoppers, 28-13.

Bruce Visits Hancock

Bruce High School's new team which lost to Northern High's Huskies (32-0) last week goes to Hancock to play Coach Paul Imphongs' Hancock High gridders this afternoon. The Washington countians opened with a 19-6 win over Berkeley Springs and bowed to the Applemen of Musselman High last week, 6-0.

Coach Doug Cochran's South Hagerstown High School Rebels will be shooting for their third straight win of the campaign when they entertain Herb Ruby's Westminster Owls in a C. V. A. League game tonight in Hagerstown. South, CVAL champion of 1961, has whipped Waynesboro, 42-19, and Howard County of Ellicott City, 25-12, and will be making its first league start tonight. The Owls have whipped Gettysburg, 14-6, and North Hagerstown, 21-0.

Harris, Gray To Play For Golf Crown

Patton, Coody Lose In U.S. Amateur

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI)—Labron Harris Jr., and Downing Gray, a pair of pressure proof youngsters, won underdog battles Friday as they fought their way into the finals of the U.S. Amateur championship.

The 20-year-old Harris, who is seeking his mathematics masters at Oklahoma State, exploded the long-time dreams of veteran internationalist Billy Joe Patton, a 40-year-old Morganton, N.C., lumberman, 3 and 1.

They'll square off for the title in this 62nd annual tournament over Pinehurst's famed number two course Saturday before a gallery which will include former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The tall, scholarly Harris, two down to his veteran rival after 10 holes, rallied for a 3-up lead over Patton at the 18-hole mark of their semi-final battle and then after being caught again as late as the 32nd hole, rallied to pull it out of the fire against the Carolinian who once finished third in the coveted Masters.

Gray meanwhile lost the first hole against Coody, a 25-year-old former TCU golfing ace, but then grabbed a three up lead at the end of 18 holes, ran it to seven up as they fought through the final 18 and held on for victory.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Patton, who at 40 and after 12 previous tries, was hoping that this would be his "lucky 13th." But when the pressure mounted in the crips, bright sunshine flooding Carolina's sandhill country, it was the veteran who buckled in the final stages.

By TED TROXELL

Allegany's heretofore offensively lifeless Campers had a grand awakening last night at Fort Hill Stadium, where they scored a 19-6 victory over North Hagerstown in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League clash.

The Campers hadn't scored a point in their last four ball games, including two at the end of the 1961 season, but they quickly crossed the goal last night and repeated the feat twice more before the rewarding evening ended.

Less than seven minutes had elapsed in the first period when Frank Williams scored the Campers' long-overdue six-pointer on a six-yard end sweep. That first score was set up when Jim Bowman returned Denny Wachter's punt 39 yards from the North High 48 to the nine. The Campers required only two plays to push the ball across.

Chance Doesn't Come

The visiting Hubs, trying to ride in on the strong right arm of quarterback Wachter, didn't manage a touchdown until late in the fourth period. When Craig Ingram took a handoff and went over from 13 yards out, it made the score 13-6 to theoretically keep the Hagerstown eleven in the game, but the chance didn't come.

Allegany had the ball for all but two seconds of the remaining three minutes and 55 seconds. Reserve halfback Bob Robinson scored on a five-yard pass from Fred Shank with just two seconds to go, and the game ended on the ensuing kickoff.

Coach Ed Schwarz' Campers, accused of late of over-conservatism on the field, used a bit of daring in the third period and it paid off in the form of touchdown number two. On a third-and-one situation, the Campers lined up to make tackle Craig Sisk eligible as a receiver, and receive he did, hauling in Shank's pass at the North 19 and lugging it the rest of the way for the score. The play covered 42 yards.

Wachter Completes 6-20

Wachter, a better-than-average flinger, attempted 20 passes and completed only six for 81 yards. In mast instances, he overshot his intended receivers, although on several occasions North scoring opportunities literally slipped through the fingers of the senior signal-caller's targets.

The Campers' record now reads like a picket fence (1-1-1). They lost their opener to Bishop Guilfoyle High of Altoona (13-0) and last week battled Martinsburg to a scoreless deadlock. North High's lok now stands at 0-3.

Mountaineer High School of Davis-Thomas posted its fourth straight shutout of the season yesterday when it defeated Belington High School at Thomas, W. Va., by the score of 31-0.

Danny Curtis scored two of the five touchdowns while the others were made by Jim Quattro, Jerry Flanagan and Fred Quattro. Curtis kicked the extra point.

A 27-yard pass, Steve DiBacco to Jim Quattro set up the first score which Curtis made on a 31-yard run.

Curtis paved the way for the second td with another 31-yard gallop and Flanagan went over from the eight.

Flanagan set up the third 6-pointer with an intercepted pass and another aerial from Steve DiBacco to Jim Quattro, covering 20 yards, produced the score.

Curtis dashed 31 yards for the fourth td early in the final period and a 25-yard pass from John Lawrence to Fred Quattro netted the final six-pointer.

The Green Bay Packers and Cleveland Browns, favorites to wind up in the National Football League's championship playoff, face easy pickin's Sunday, although don't mention that word "easy" to their coaches.

The men who make the odds, however, ignore the word "letdown" and so the Packers are favored by 14 points over the St. Louis Cardinals at Milwaukee and the Browns are 16-point choices at home over the Washington Redskins.

In the Eastern Division's top game at Philadelphia, the New York Giants are picked by 3 points over the Eagles, while the Chicago Bears are favored by 3 over the Rams at Los Angeles; the Baltimore Colts by 6 over the Vikings at Minnesota; the Pittsburgh Steelers by 6 over the Cowboys at Dallas; and the Detroit Lions by 7 at home over the San Francisco Forty Niners.

50,000 May See Fourth Race Of Yachting Series

Crews Concerned Over Spectator Fleet

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The largest spectator fleet ever to follow a yacht race—a flotilla of 3,000 vessels with a cargo of 50,000 fans, including President and Mrs. Kennedy—is expected to swarm into the Atlantic Saturday for the fourth America's Cup clash between Weatherly and Gretel.

"It could be a madhouse," a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said Friday. "If it's a good day, you'll be able to walk across the bay without getting your shoes wet."

To meet the situation, the Coast Guard has brought down additional boats from Boston to reinforce its cutter patrol and has warned of fines up to $500 for persons violating the race area. The start of last Saturday's race was delayed an hour by unruly spectator craft.

The camps of the defender Weatherly and the gritty Australian challenger, Gretel, both enjoying an off day, appeared more concerned about the potential spectator fleet than the possible weather.

The fourth race, like the second won by Gretel by a margin of 47 seconds, will be over a 24-mile triangular course—the first eight miles upwind, followed by two reaches of eight miles each. Starting time is 11:10 a.m. EST.

The first and third races, won by Weatherly, were over an upwind-downwind course. In both, as on the windward leg of the second, the American sloop demonstrated definite superiority beating to weather.

Fort Hill's Sentinels kept their record unblemished by squeezing out a 20-13 decision over the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs last night in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game at Martinsburg. It was the third straight win of the season for Fort Hill.

Held to a 13-13 tie in the first half, Coach Charles Lattimer's eleven won the game in the third period when Colin Smith tallied from the nine-yard line on a pitchout and Pat Wilson booted the extra point.

On the second half kickoff Martinsburg's safety man blundered in allowing the ball to roll and Smith fell on the pigskin on Martinsburg's 15. On the first play Smith advanced to the 13 and after Delbert Proudfoot had carried to the nine, Smith went from there with what proved to be the deciding score.

Fort Hill scored in the first period on the fourth play of the game when Proudfoot took Williams' pass and ran for the touchdown on a play that covered 44 yards. Wilson kicked the extra point.

Martinsburg then drove 66 yards in ten plays with Doug Stewart going over from the one. The run for extra point was stopped.

John Hylton put the Bulldogs in front in the second period by smashing over from the 5 and Reuter added the point on a run. Reuter had set up this score by intercepting a pass on the Martinsburg 49 and 11 plays later the home team tallied.

Fort Hill rolled 55 yards in ten plays to knot the score at 13-13 later in the second period with Rich Robinson accounting for the td on a run from the three. Reuter blocked Wilson's try for the point.

Frostburg State Gridders Open At Home Today With Shepherd

Potomac State Will Invade Glenville; Bruce At Hancock

Frostburg State's Bobcats open their second season of football today when they play host to Coach Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd College Rams at Beall High School stadium at 2 o'clock.

Area Players On Squad

Twenty-five of the 45 members of the Bobcat squad are from the immediate tri-state area. Nine come from Beall High School, five from Fort Hill, four each from Allegany and LaSalle and one each from Bruce, Southern and Keyser.

Cumberland players on the squad are Glen Davis, Fred Wartzack, William Beckward and Mike McKenzie, Allegany grads; Bill Hyde, Edward Finn, Vic Twigg, Larry Shumaker, George Allen, Jerry Cole, Jerry Delaney, Jim Evans and Joe Stevens, of Beall; Gary Holtzman, Eddie Shoup, Ken Poling and Dave Clem, of Fort Hill; Wayne Wilhelm, Edward Bush, Jack Gilmore and Jim Delaney, of LaSalle; Bob Shaw, Keyser; Bill Wiltison, Bruce, and Henry McRobie, of Southern at Oakland.

Shepherd is coached by Jesse Riggleman, former Ridgeley and Petersburg mentor, who is in his 7th year as mentor of the Shepherdstown team. Jesse's record to date is 26-19-2, which includes a 13-13 tie in last week's opener with Fairmont State's Falcons. The Rams defeated Frostburg State last year, 29-6.

Officials for the game will be John Shelton, John Fox, Bob Pence and Hubert Feeney.

Harold Cordts, athletic director, announced yesterday that season tickets are now available at $4 for four home games.

Potomac At Glenville

Potomac State College will be playing its 196th game under Coach Dana "Horse" Lough when it pries off the lid against Glenville College's Pioneers today at Glenville, W. Va. Over 24 seasons Lough's Catamount elevens have won 97, lost 88 and played ten tie games. Potomac did not field grid teams in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Glenville has a new coach this year in Jess Lilly with Leland Byrd and Bill Douglas as assistants. The Pioneers have 18 letter-men back and 14 of the returnees were regulars last year. Glenville dropped its season opener to the West Liberty College Hilltoppers, 28-13.

Bruce Visits Hancock

Bruce High School's new team which lost to Northern High's Huskies (32-0) last week goes to Hancock to play Coach Paul Imphongs' Hancock High gridders this afternoon. The Washington countians opened with a 19-6 win over Berkeley Springs and bowed to the Applemen of Musselman High last week, 6-0.

Coach Doug Cochran's South Hagerstown High School Rebels will be shooting for their third straight win of the campaign when they entertain Herb Ruby's Westminster Owls in a C. V. A. League game tonight in Hagerstown. South, CVAL champion of 1961, has whipped Waynesboro, 42-19, and Howard County of Ellicott City, 25-12, and will be making its first league start tonight. The Owls have whipped Gettysburg, 14-6, and North Hagerstown, 21-0.

Harris, Gray To Play For Golf Crown

Patton, Coody Lose In U.S. Amateur

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI)—Labron Harris Jr., and Downing Gray, a pair of pressure proof youngsters, won underdog battles Friday as they fought their way into the finals of the U.S. Amateur championship.

The 20-year-old Harris, who is seeking his mathematics masters at Oklahoma State, exploded the long-time dreams of veteran internationalist Billy Joe Patton, a 40-year-old Morganton, N.C., lumberman, 3 and 1.

They'll square off for the title in this 62nd annual tournament over Pinehurst's famed number two course Saturday before a gallery which will include former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The tall, scholarly Harris, two down to his veteran rival after 10 holes, rallied for a 3-up lead over Patton at the 18-hole mark of their semi-final battle and then after being caught again as late as the 32nd hole, rallied to pull it out of the fire against the Carolinian who once finished third in the coveted Masters.

Gray meanwhile lost the first hole against Coody, a 25-year-old former TCU golfing ace, but then grabbed a three up lead at the end of 18 holes, ran it to seven up as they fought through the final 18 and held on for victory.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Patton, who at 40 and after 12 previous tries, was hoping that this would be his "lucky 13th." But when the pressure mounted in the crips, bright sunshine flooding Carolina's sandhill country, it was the veteran who buckled in the final stages.

Outplayed and limited to only three first downs, Romney High School's Pioneers staged a last-ditch rally to overcome a scrappy Moorefield High School eleven yesterday at Romney by the score of 13-7 to extend their two-year victory string to twelve games.

The score was knotted at 7-7 with three minutes remaining in the final period when end Robert Wolford set up the winning td by recovering a Moorefield fumble on the visitors' 35. Aided by a 25-yard run by James Alkire, Romney tallied five plays later when Sam Graham slammed over from the one-yard mark.

Moorefield drew first blood in the battle between the old rivals by driving 96 yards for the initial score in the second quarter. Coach George Hott's Yellowjackets scored in 16 plays with Ralph Keller accounting for the six-pointer on a plunge from the one. He also kicked the extra point. During the long march, Moorefield picked up 26 yards on penalties and 35 yards on passes.

With three minutes remaining in the second period Romney scored on a pass play that covered 78 yards. Don Wade fired the 15-yard aerial to Robert Wolford and the latter dashed 63 yards for the score. Sam Graham snared David Carl's pass for the extra point which knotted the score at 7-7.

Moorefield outrushed the Pioneers 119 to 69 yards, completed 6 of 13 passes for 63 yards and racked up a total of 13 first downs. Romney connected on two of seven overhead thrusts for 83 yards, which included the 78-yard td play.

The victory was Romney's third of the campaign and gave the Hampshire countians a 2-0 record in the Potomac Valley Conference. Moorefield suffered its first setback of the campaign after having whipped Southern of Oakland and Petersburg in conference engagements.

The loss was the fourth in a row for the luckless Vikings. The Panthers, who dropped two straight to Potomac Valley Conference teams (Romney and Keyser) chalked up their first win of the year.

Halfback Larry Creamer bulled over from four yards out in the first quarter to cap a 50-yard scoring drive in which he made the key run of 36 yards. That was the only scoring of the afternoon. Petersburg got to within ten yards of the Charles Town goal on three different occasions, but couldn't drive the ball across.

Three different starting backs accounted for Circleville's touchdowns. Bob Teets tallied on a ten-yard run, Gary Sponaugle went over from the two on a quarterback sneak, and also connected with halfback Ronnie Williams on a pass play that covered 40 yards.

The Indians picked up two points in the final quarter on a safety when Green Bank quarterback Brooks was trapped in his own end zone

Defending co-champion Keyser High School launched its 1962 Potomac Valley Conference campaign by blanking the Ridgeley High School Blackhawks yesterday at Keyser by the score of 28-0.

It was the second victory in three outings for Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado.

Charles "Chuck" Bradford, the P.V.C.'s top scorer for the past two years, accounted for two of Keyser's four touchdowns. He tallied in the opening period on a two-yard run and ran over from the seven for the third score in the second quarter.

Lane made Keyser's second six-pointer on a 16-yard gallop in the second period and Payne toted the ball over from the five-yard mark in the third stanza.

Rotruck made two conversions and the two other points were registered on a safety in the final quarter.

Outplayed and limited to only three first downs, Romney High School's Pioneers staged a last-ditch rally to overcome a scrappy Moorefield High School eleven yesterday at Romney by the score of 13-7 to extend their two-year victory string to twelve games.

The score was knotted at 7-7 with three minutes remaining in the final period when end Robert Wolford set up the winning td by recovering a Moorefield fumble on the visitors' 35. Aided by a 25-yard run by James Alkire, Romney tallied five plays later when Sam Graham slammed over from the one-yard mark.

Moorefield drew first blood in the battle between the old rivals by driving 96 yards for the initial score in the second quarter. Coach George Hott's Yellowjackets scored in 16 plays with Ralph Keller accounting for the six-pointer on a plunge from the one. He also kicked the extra point. During the long march, Moorefield picked up 26 yards on penalties and 35 yards on passes.

With three minutes remaining in the second period Romney scored on a pass play that covered 78 yards. Don Wade fired the 15-yard aerial to Robert Wolford and the latter dashed 63 yards for the score. Sam Graham snared David Carl's pass for the extra point which knotted the score at 7-7.

Moorefield outrushed the Pioneers 119 to 69 yards, completed 6 of 13 passes for 63 yards and racked up a total of 13 first downs. Romney connected on two of seven overhead thrusts for 83 yards, which included the 78-yard td play.

The victory was Romney's third of the campaign and gave the Hampshire countians a 2-0 record in the Potomac Valley Conference. Moorefield suffered its first setback of the campaign after having whipped Southern of Oakland and Petersburg in conference engagements.

Petersburg's winless Vikings yielded just one touchdown yesterday to Charles Town, but that's all it took for the Purple Panthers as they scored a 6-0 victory at Petersburg.

The loss was the fourth in a row for the luckless Vikings. The Panthers, who dropped two straight to Potomac Valley Conference teams (Romney and Keyser) chalked up their first win of the year.

Halfback Larry Creamer bulled over from four yards out in the first quarter to cap a 50-yard scoring drive in which he made the key run of 36 yards. That was the only scoring of the afternoon. Petersburg got to within ten yards of the Charles Town goal on three different occasions, but couldn't drive the ball across.

Mt. Savage Could Wrap Up Title With Win At Frostburg Sunday

Old Gees Win Nine In Row; Merchants Out To Even Series

Manager Kenny Johnson's Mt. Savage Old Germans will be aiming to wrap up the playoff title in the Pen-Mar Baseball League when they tangle with the Frostburg Merchants in the second game of their best-of-three series Sunday at 2:30 p.m., at Frostburg.

A victory for Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli's Mountain City tossers would knot the series at one-all and necessitate the staging of a "rubber" game a week from tomorrow.

Mt. Savage and Frostburg wound up the regular season tied for first place (16-8) and in the playoff game for the pennant the Old Germans won, 4-3.

Old Gees Cop Opener

Last Sunday, Mt. Savage got the jump in the final playoffs by nosing out Frostburg, 2-1, with Lefty Wayne Johnson, the busiest and winningest pitcher in the league outdueling Lefty Dave Wilson.

Frostburg and Mt. Savage will be meeting for the seventh time this season. They are now even-Stephen at three wins each and four of the six games have been decided by the margin of a single run.

Johnson has opposed the Merchants in all six games and he is 3-3 in the series. The Mt. Savage southpaw lost

Stocks Decline Sharply On Heavy Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavy selling barrages wiped out $4.5 billion in paper values on the stock market Friday and handed Dow-Jones industrials their worst pounding in more than two months.

With the high speed ticker running late for 15 minutes in the middle of the morning and through almost the entire final hour of the scale-down, trading swelled to a 20-session high of 4,280,000 shares, exceeding Thursday's turnover by 930,000.

The industrial average fell through the 600 support level early in the day and was close to the next band of technical resistance at its close of 591.78—of 9.87 on the day. Rails fell 0.91 and utilities 0.93.

Standard & Poor's made the estimate of the loss in paper values on the basis of its inclusive 500-stock index which closed at 57.69 for a loss of 0.85.

The market was the broadest since July 10 with 1,284 issues traded. Declines outnumbered advances by the lopsided score of 949 to 163 and new 1962 lows exceeded new highs 58 to 2.

Chicago Grains

At the final bell wheat was up ¼ to off ½ cent a bushel; corn up ¼ to off ⅛; oats off ⅛ to ¼; rye up ¼ to unchanged and soybeans unchanged to off ⅜.

Wheat spent the day fluctuating and reached a firm position at mid-morning on buying by elevator interests. Trade was generally light pending final action on farm legislation.

Early firmness in soybeans was attributed to continuing reports of frost over bean growing areas and light export demand. Local traders later sold and prices receded. Hedge selling was light and trade sources said farmers are not offering beans freely.

Stocks Decline Sharply On Heavy Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavy selling barrages wiped out $4.5 billion in paper values on the stock market Friday and handed Dow-Jones industrials their worst pounding in more than two months.

With the high speed ticker running late for 15 minutes in the middle of the morning and through almost the entire final hour of the scale-down, trading swelled to a 20-session high of 4,280,000 shares, exceeding Thursday's turnover by 930,000.

The industrial average fell through the 600 support level early in the day and was close to the next band of technical resistance at its close of 591.78—of 9.87 on the day. Rails fell 0.91 and utilities 0.93.

Standard & Poor's made the estimate of the loss in paper values on the basis of its inclusive 500-stock index which closed at 57.69 for a loss of 0.85.

The market was the broadest since July 10 with 1,284 issues traded. Declines outnumbered advances by the lopsided score of 949 to 163 and new 1962 lows exceeded new highs 58 to 2.

Chicago Grains

At the final bell wheat was up ¼ to off ½ cent a bushel; corn up ¼ to off ⅛; oats off ⅛ to ¼; rye up ¼ to unchanged and soybeans unchanged to off ⅜.

Wheat spent the day fluctuating and reached a firm position at mid-morning on buying by elevator interests. Trade was generally light pending final action on farm legislation.

Early firmness in soybeans was attributed to continuing reports of frost over bean growing areas and light export demand. Local traders later sold and prices receded. Hedge selling was light and trade sources said farmers are not offering beans freely.

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Health Dept. To Give Oral Vaccine Here

Will Follow Medical Society's Program

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer, said yesterday that when the present oral polio vaccine program is completed in Allegany County, the Health Department will institute a program of oral polio vaccinations for children and for adults up to 40 years of age.

Dr. Jones said the recent scare involving the Type III Sabin polio vaccine was not well founded and is still being investigated. He said he feels that by the time the county begins its program all the problems regarding the vaccine will have been ironed out.

The pilot program of oral vaccine sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society will be completed this fall with the administration of Type I to those who missed it in June 1961.

A recent survey showed 39,088 persons took Type III vaccine in Allegany County last May and no one reported any ill effects after taking the vaccine.

The pilot program by the medical society began in June 1961 when 38,177 doses of Type I were administered. In October 1961, 41,895 doses of Type II were given.

The Allegany County Health Department plans to institute its new program for babies born since the medical society's program started and for all other children and adults up to 40 years old who wish to take the vaccine.

How To Open A Road

Smiling Gov. J. Millard Tawes obviously thought this was a pretty good way to open a highway project when he cut a ribbon opening three newly improved segments of U. S. 40 in a ceremony on Long Hill yesterday morning. The girls, Sherri Berry and Beverly Brown, showed up to thank the governor's administration on behalf of the Route 40 Association for improving the highway. Other improvements are scheduled to begin soon on the major east-west highway.

Youth Injured In 3-Vehicle Accident

A 19-year-old Carpenters Addition youth was hospitalized yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a three-vehicle accident near The Cow owned by Barton's Dairy on U.S. Route 220 two miles south of Cresaptown.

Joseph J. Nestor, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital, suffered possible concussion, multiple lacerations, and contusions of the face, according to attaches who said his condition is "satisfactory."

He was driver of one of the vehicles, according to Tfc. Charles T. Snow, of the Maryland State Police, who investigated the accident about 12:30 p.m. Young Nestor was taken to the local hospital in the ambulance of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Drivers of the other two vehicles were Charles B. Liller, 36, of RD 5, city and Albert F. Murray, 19, of Carpenters Addition, who apparently were not hurt.

Trooper Snow said all three vehicles were southbound in the direction of Rawlings when the accident occurred.

He said the cars being driven by Murray and Nestor were in the process of passing a ton and a half truck being operated by Liller.

Liller began making a left turn, according to the trooper, who said the car driven by Murray hit the right side of the truck and the car driven by Nestor swerved to the right and hit the right rear of the truck.

No charges have been filed, police said.

Cow Breeders Hold Meeting

Members of the board of directors of the Allegany County Artificial Breeding Circuit were re-elected Thursday night during the annual meeting held at the LaVale fire hall.

Re-elected were Clarence O. Miller, chairman; Donald Brooke, secretary; Harry E. Miller, treasurer, and technician; Olen B. Platt Jr., Ernest L. Ganoe Jr., and James Fletcher.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, is an honorary member of the Board. Clarence O. Miller is a state director.

Gene Weaver, fieldman, gave a report on state activities and spoke on "Your Sires in Service." The feature of the program was a film, "This Is Your Life."

It was reported at the meeting that 1,200 cows were bred in Allegany County last year.

Moderation, Discipline Help Avoid Heart Disease

Self-discipline, avoidance of unnecessary tension, and a close watch on general health are three good ways to avoid heart disease, Dr. W. Alfred Van Ormer, local specialist in internal medicine, told nurses attending a seminar on arteriosclerotic heart disease this week.

The seminar, sponsored jointly by the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association and District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, was held all day Thursday at Memorial Hospital nurses home.

Dr. Van Ormer said that since no pill has been developed to prevent atherosclerosis, people should take advantage of the things science has learned about heart disease in order to avoid it.

Five-Point Program

He outlined this five-point program for avoiding the conditions that lead to heart disease:

1. Learn to manage your life so that you are as free from tension as possible. While doing this, get daily moderate exercise, both for its relaxing effect and for its help in avoiding vascular disease.

2. Maintain your weight within the normal range all your life.

3. Keep your diastolic blood pressure (the lower of the two pressure readings) below 90. This may mean drugs and salt restriction if your doctor finds these measures necessary.

4. If your blood cholestrerol level is above normal, it should be brought down by maintaining normal weight and using a diet low in carbohydrates, average in protein and low in animal fats, using unsaturated fats like corn oil, cottonseed oil and fish oils instead of animal fats.

5. Remember that to some extent the rule "survival of the fittest" applies, and exercise the self-discipline it takes to keep fit.

Hazards of Civilization

Dr. Van Ormer said there is considerable evidence that the increase of atherosclerosis in the Western world is related to the increasing tension, greater tendency to be overweight and the higher animal fat content of the diet, all of which are part of the modern way of life.

He also came up with some interesting statistics about the people most likely to get heart disease.

The average American man who is not overweight, does not have diastolic hypertension, does not have minor electrocardiographic findings and whose serum cholesterol level is normal has a statistical chance of only one in 30 of developing coronary artery disease.

If the same person is overweight (20 per cent above the weight he averaged at age 20) he doubles his chances of heart disease to two out of 30.

But if his obesity is accompanied by high blood pressure, high cholesterol level and electrocardiographic changes, his chances of heart disease rise to 14 in 30.

One-fifth of all American males between 40 and 64 years old develop heart disease. The incidence among women is much lower until the menopause, after which it parallels the frequency of heart disease among men.

Haupt Hearing Is Canceled In Baltimore

The U. S. District Attorney's office said it was learned informally that James W. Haupt, 19, of Zihlman, would plead guilty to the charge.

FBI agents charged him March 30 with demanding $25,000 from Joseph H. Kruson, a retired Frostburg executive.

Edward J. Powers, special agent in charge of the Baltimore FBI Bureau, said the charge was made after Haupt had sent three unsigned letters through the mail demanding $25,000 from Mr. Kruson.

The third letter, which threatened Kruson's life, demanded the money be delivered at 11:30 p.m. on March 29 at the Kaiser Refractories brickyard in Zihlman. FBI agents staked out the brickyard and apprehended Haupt at the pay-off scene.

Friendly Suits Settled Here

Two friendly damage suits stemming from auto accidents this summer have been settled out of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Plaintiff in one of the suits was Mary Ann Wines, daughter of Shelby J. Wines of Charles Town, W. Va. who was a passenger in a car operated by Harry C. Weicht, McCoole, defendant.

On June 9, 1962 the plaintiff was injured when the motor vehicle in which she was riding went out of control on U.S. Route 220 near the end of the bridge in Keyser and hit a telephone pole.

In the other suit, Robert G. Burke son of Charles S. and Claudia M. Burke, Romney, W. Va. was the plaintiff and a passenger in a car operated by Raymond Monk, Greenbelt and owned by Marcus and Alice Monk, also of Greenbelt.

On July 28, 1962 the car was being driven on U.S. Route 50 about six miles southeast of Keyser when it left the highway, hit an embankment and overturned.

Fire Company To Collect Cards

The coin cards, which were distributed several months ago, will be used to maintain present fire equipment and purchase new equipment.

Guard Alerted Here

Headquarters Company, First Medium Tank Battalion, Maryland National Guard, located at the Armory on Brown Avenue, was alerted yesterday at 5:30 p.m. by Captain Jonathan J. Eckhard, company commander. The routine alert was called off later in the evening.

More U.S. 40 Projects Will Help Economy

Governor Opens Three Projects

Road improvement projects that are now in the works will help Western Maryland's economy, Gov. J. Millard Tawes said yesterday as he opened three new sections of U. S. 40.

The governor cut a ribbon on Long Hill to open the newly completed projects, totaling 7.36 miles and $2,700,000 in cost.

They include 1.8 miles of dual highway over Long Hill, 2.28 miles from the Washington-Allegany county line to the Town Hill relocation, and 3.28 miles from the top of Polish Mountain east to Fifteen-Mile Creek.

"We are continuing to move forward toward our goal to make a modern highway out of U. S. 40 in Western Maryland," the governor said.

"Within the next few months construction will begin on the important Town Hill relocation and the bridge over Fifteen-Mile Creek.

"I am certain that new Route 40, with its connection to the east of here, going hand in hand with other programs of this administration, will play a major role in revitalizing the economy of the Western Maryland region.

The governor pointed out that the very first contract award under the present highway construction law was for improvement of U.S. 40 on the western slope of Martin Mountain.

The governor commended county officials for their cooperation, and gave a special word of thanks to "Ed Habeeb and the Route 40 Association whose active interest in this highway has been of great help to all of us."

Mr. Habeeb, a florist, appeared with two local young women holding a banner proclaiming "Thank You for a Beautiful Highway — Route 40 Association."

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the State Roads Commission, also predicted that road improvements will help the area's economy.

"Everything that is possible will be done to give Western Maryland a fine highway all the way to the Pennsylvania line," he said.

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, as master of ceremonies for the program, introduced the speakers. The Allegany and Fort Hill high school bands played, and George Walters of Eckhart, chairman of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, gave the invocation and benediction.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Smith, Washington, announce the birth of a daughter there Friday at George Washington University Hospital. The mother is the former Miss Carol Leasure of Cumberland.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Huff, 107 Blaul Avenue, a daughter last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Schade, 515 Linden Avenue, a son last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Wentling, RFD 1, Oldtown, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Smith, Moorefield, a son yesterday.

Firemen's Insurance Plan Cited

Member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association are being reminded of the low-cost insurance plan being sponsored by the association.

To date a total of 542 volunteer firemen have indicated they want to participate in the plan. Some 58 volunteers are needed in order that the association might take part in the program which would be effective October 1.

Homer Ambrose, McCoole, secretary of the insurance plan, said yesterday that $1,000 natural death insurance coverage up to the age of 65 and $500 coverage over 65 is included in the program by the Ohio Mutual Insurance Company.

Anyone having applications for the program is asked to submit them to Mr. Ambrose as soon as possible.

Head Injuries Are Cause Of Man's Death

Wesley H. Rudisill Dies In Oakland

Multiple head injuries and shock caused the death of a 79-year-old Hendersonville, N. C., man who was in an auto accident yesterday morning on Third Street in Oakland, authorities said.

He was a passenger in a car being driven north on Third Street by his wife, Mrs. Elsie (Rand) Rudisill who was taking her husband to the hospital after he had become ill earlier in the day while visiting a sister, Miss Ruth Rudisill who lives in Mountain Lake Park.

Police said Mrs. Rudisill, traveling north on Third Street, failed to straighten out the car after passing another northbound vehicle and crashed into a parked truck owned by Paul A. Calhoun, Mt. Lake Park.

Worked For SEC

The accident occurred about 7:15 a. m. and it was foggy at the time, said authorities. Tfc. Donald Tucker of the State Police investigated.

Mr. Rudisill was a consulting engineering analyst for the Securities Exchange Commission about 20 years prior to his retirement.

He designed the power system for the City of Manila in the Philippines during his engineering career and for many years worked in the Orient and Europe as an engineer for the J. G. White Company.

Mr. Rudisill also was a past vice president for Philadelphia Electric in the Coatesville, Pa., district. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Hendersonville and a member of the housing board there.

Was Inventor

Mr. Rudisill, who had a number of inventions patented, was a graduate of Bliss Electrical School, Washington, and did graduate work at Swarthmore (Pa.) College. He was a member of the SAE fraternity at Ohio State University.

He was a past president of the Coatesville Rotary Club and a member of the Elks and Civitan clubs of Hendersonville and of a Masonic lodge in New York.

A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, he was a son of Lewis and Katie (Hopkins) Rudisill. His father was a Methodist minister in Mountain Lake Park for a number of years, and owner of the Mountain Democrat newspaper in Oakland.

Besides his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Walter E. Dawson, Mobile, Ala., and Mrs. William Freihofer, Magate, N. J.

The body is at the Minnich Funeral Home in Oakland, where friends will be received from 7 to 9 p. m. today.

A service will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the Minnich Funeral Home and a private burial service will be held in the Oakland Cemetery.

Man Is Jailed In Fish Charge

A Flintstone area man Thursday was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County jail in default of $59.50 fine and costs when he was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Russell Nierman on a charge of possessing an undersize bass.

Joseph L. Wallizer was arrested by Eugene W. Law, game warden in Allegany County.

City-County Sewage Unit Has Meeting

Members discussed the reasons for forming the commission and its purpose which is to make a study of the sewage needs in the county.

Also discussed was what authority the new commission would have and problems such as financing and public reaction.

A meeting with the Allegany County Sanitary Commission was suggested for purposes of coordination on the sewage study.

Shrine Elects Judge Cobey Oriental Guide

Ali Ghan Member Nearly 22 Years

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey last night was elected oriental guide of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., to serve for the rest of 1962.

Oriental guide is the fourth step below the rank of illustrious potentate. Other elected officers in the Ali Ghan divan are J. Wallace Close, illustrious potentate; Woodward D. Pealer, rabban; C. William Hetzer, Williamsport, assistant rabban and Robert E. Moore, high priest and prophet.

Judge Cobey has been a noble of the Ali Ghan Temple since November 1940. He is a past master of Mountain Lodge 99, A.F. & A.M. in Frostburg.

The new oriental guide has been an associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit since his appointment December 29, 1960, by Governor J. Millard Tawes. He filed in both the Democratic and Republican primaries for a full term as judge and was unopposed. As a consequence he has no opposition in the November 6 general election for a full term.

Judge Cobey is a member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion; past president of Cumberland Kiwanis Club; a director of Central YMCA; former secretary of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company, former president of the Fidelity Bank of Frostburg, former director of the Second National Bank and member of Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and Frostburg Lodge 470, B.P.O. Elks and the First Presbyterian Church of Frostburg.

Taking It Easy

Samuel D. Harmon of Westernport tries out a lounge chair presented to him on his retirement last night by fellow employes in the preparation department at Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company. He has worked every job in the department since he started there in 1928. Monday was his 65th birthday. With him are Carl H. Bizzard, chairman of the gift committee, and George W. Wagner, department chairman.

GOP Candidate Would Abolish Slot Machines

Small Challenges Tawes To Debate

By The Associated Press

The Republican nominee for state comptroller said Friday night he was in favor of abolishing slot machines in Maryland.

David Champion, who was attending a political rally in Prince Frederick, Md., with other statewide members of the GOP ticket, said he was in agreement with Democratic Gov. Tawes on the issue of slots, but charged that Tawes had reversed himself for political expediency.

Frank Small Jr., seeking election to governor on the Republican ticket, has said he believes slot machines are a local issue to be decided by the counties involved. Until Wednesday, Tawes had maintained a similar position, but reversed himself, apparently to gain the support of his primary opponent David Hume, who polled nearly 120,000 votes in the May election.

In his statement Friday night, Champion said he dared Louis L. Goldstein, his Democratic opponent, to make his position on slots clear. Goldstein is a native of Calvert County, one of the four Maryland counties where the one-arm bandits are legal.

Small Wants Debate

"There are aspects of these issues that the public has a right to know about," said the Republican candidate.

Small claimed there is more to the promise by Gov. Tawes that he will seek to repeal legality of slot machines in four Southern Maryland counties than meets the eye.

"Tawes has demonstrated by his past actions that his promises are not worth much. He broke his promises to school teachers, state employes, organized labor and other groups."

Small said he would like to ask Tawes face to face "some pointed questions about the savings and loan issue, his alleged change of heart on the slot machine issue and other matters."

The reaction over Gov. Tawes' appointment Wednesday of a commission to recommend procedure for outlawing slot machines in Anne Arundel, St. Mary's, Charles and Calvert counties drew mixed reactions within his party as well as out.

Tawes previously had maintained the question of gambling was up to local option.

What About Ponies?

Edward J. Klima, a Democratic commissioner in Anne Arundel County, complained that the governor's stand would reduce the local lawmaking power.

He also said that if slot machines are evil, as Gov. Tawes stated, then "horse race betting also is evil and should be eliminated."

Klima said the loss of state revenue in taxes on horse racing would be equivalent to what the counties will lose if slot machines are outlawed.

Klima estimated Anne Arundel would lose $700,000 a year in direct revenue from slot machines. The state reaps nearly $9 million from horse racing.

Another Democrat, J. Frank Raley, of St. Mary's County said he also opposed abolition of the slots which he estimated produced a quarter of a million dollars for his county. Raley is a former state delegate and is running for the State Senate Nov. 6.

Raley said he has been and will continue to be for more rigid control over the machines and revision of taxation on them.

Eastern Shore Battle

The candidates for the Eastern Shore's seat in the House of Representatives also engaged in an exchange of statements.

Rogers C. B. Morton, the Republican, criticized the incumbent Democrat, Thomas F. Johnson, for missing nine roll calls Thursday.

"This farm program was bitterly opposed by most farmers of Maryland and the nation," stated Morton. "Where was Johnson when the interests of Eastern Shore farmers were at stake?"

Johnson replied that during the farm bill roll call he held a "very fruitful conference" with administration officials for a new half million dollar post office in Cambridge.

The Daily Banner of Cambridge reported Thursday that Johnson had announced Wednesday at a Democratic dinner "you will have new facilities for a post office adequate for Cambridge."

The Banner reported Johnson said the Post Office Department had authorized him to make the announcement.

Wiley Ford Youth Hurt In Car Crash

A 14-year-old Wiley Ford, W. Va., youth was hospitalized yesterday with injuries sustained in a one-car accident about six miles east of Keyser, W. Va.

Driver of the car, authorities said, was Denver Sachs, also of Wiley Ford. The car went out of control and struck a tree, authorities added.

Health Dept. To Give Oral Vaccine Here

Will Follow Medical Society's Program

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer, said yesterday that when the present oral polio vaccine program is completed in Allegany County, the Health Department will institute a program of oral polio vaccinations for children and for adults up to 40 years of age.

Dr. Jones said the recent scare involving the Type III Sabin polio vaccine was not well founded and is still being investigated. He said he feels that by the time the county begins its program all the problems regarding the vaccine will have been ironed out.

The pilot program of oral vaccine sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society will be completed this fall with the administration of Type I to those who missed it in June 1961.

A recent survey showed 39,088 persons took Type III vaccine in Allegany County last May and no one reported any ill effects after taking the vaccine.

The pilot program by the medical society began in June 1961 when 38,177 doses of Type I were administered. In October 1961, 41,895 doses of Type II were given.

The Allegany County Health Department plans to institute its new program for babies born since the medical society's program started and for all other children and adults up to 40 years old who wish to take the vaccine.

How To Open A Road

Smiling Gov. J. Millard Tawes obviously thought this was a pretty good way to open a highway project when he cut a ribbon opening three newly improved segments of U. S. 40 in a ceremony on Long Hill yesterday morning. The girls, Sherri Berry and Beverly Brown, showed up to thank the governor's administration on behalf of the Route 40 Association for improving the highway. Other improvements are scheduled to begin soon on the major east-west highway.

Youth Injured In 3-Vehicle Accident

A 19-year-old Carpenters Addition youth was hospitalized yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a three-vehicle accident near The Cow owned by Barton's Dairy on U.S. Route 220 two miles south of Cresaptown.

Joseph J. Nestor, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital, suffered possible concussion, multiple lacerations, and contusions of the face, according to attaches who said his condition is "satisfactory."

He was driver of one of the vehicles, according to Tfc. Charles T. Snow, of the Maryland State Police, who investigated the accident about 12:30 p.m. Young Nestor was taken to the local hospital in the ambulance of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

Drivers of the other two vehicles were Charles B. Liller, 36, of RD 5, city and Albert F. Murray, 19, of Carpenters Addition, who apparently were not hurt.

Trooper Snow said all three vehicles were southbound in the direction of Rawlings when the accident occurred.

He said the cars being driven by Murray and Nestor were in the process of passing a ton and a half truck being operated by Liller.

Liller began making a left turn, according to the trooper, who said the car driven by Murray hit the right side of the truck and the car driven by Nestor swerved to the right and hit the right rear of the truck.

No charges have been filed, police said.

Cow Breeders Hold Meeting

Members of the board of directors of the Allegany County Artificial Breeding Circuit were re-elected Thursday night during the annual meeting held at the LaVale fire hall.

Re-elected were Clarence O. Miller, chairman; Donald Brooke, secretary; Harry E. Miller, treasurer, and technician; Olen B. Platt Jr., Ernest L. Ganoe Jr., and James Fletcher.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, is an honorary member of the Board. Clarence O. Miller is a state director.

During the meeting attended by some 92 persons, Harry Miller gave a report.

Gene Weaver, fieldman, gave a report on state activities and spoke on "Your Sires in Service." The feature of the program was a film, "This Is Your Life."

It was reported at the meeting that 1,200 cows were bred in Allegany County last year.

Moderation, Discipline Help Avoid Heart Disease

Self-discipline, avoidance of unnecessary tension, and a close watch on general health are three good ways to avoid heart disease, Dr. W. Alfred Van Ormer, local specialist in internal medicine, told nurses attending a seminar on arteriosclerotic heart disease this week.

The seminar, sponsored jointly by the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association and District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, was held all day Thursday at Memorial Hospital nurses home.

Dr. Van Ormer said that since no pill has been developed to prevent atherosclerosis, people should take advantage of the things science has learned about heart disease in order to avoid it.

Five-Point Program

He outlined this five-point program for avoiding the conditions that lead to heart disease:

1. Learn to manage your life so that you are as free from tension as possible. While doing this, get daily moderate exercise, both for its relaxing effect and for its help in avoiding vascular disease.

The Confucian rule of "moderation in all things" should include coffee, tea, tobacco, alcohol — the exercise, too.

2. Maintain your weight within the normal range all your life.

3. Keep your diastolic blood pressure (the lower of the two pressure readings) below 90. This may mean drugs and salt restriction if your doctor finds these measures necessary.

4. If your blood cholestrerol level is above normal, it should be brought down by maintaining normal weight and using a diet low in carbohydrates, average in protein and low in animal fats, using unsaturated fats like corn oil, cottonseed oil and fish oils instead of animal fats.

5. Remember that to some extent the rule "survival of the fittest" applies, and exercise the self-discipline it takes to keep fit.

Hazards of Civilization

Dr. Van Ormer said there is considerable evidence that the increase of atherosclerosis in the Western world is related to the increasing tension, greater tendency to be overweight and the higher animal fat content of the diet, all of which are part of the modern way of life.

He also came up with some interesting statistics about the people most likely to get heart disease.

The average American man who is not overweight, does not have diastolic hypertension, does not have minor electrocardiographic findings and whose serum cholesterol level is normal has a statistical chance of only one in 30 of developing coronary artery disease.

If the same person is overweight (20 per cent above the weight he averaged at age 20) he doubles his chances of heart disease to two out of 30.

But if his obesity is accompanied by high blood pressure, high cholesterol level and electrocardiographic changes, his chances of heart disease rise to 14 in 30.

One-fifth of all American males between 40 and 64 years old develop heart disease. The incidence among women is much lower until the menopause, after which it parallels the frequency of heart disease among men.

Haupt Hearing Is Canceled In Baltimore

A preliminary hearing for an Allegany County youth accused of extortion was canceled yesterday in the Federal District Court in Baltimore.

The U. S. District Attorney's office said it was learned informally that James W. Haupt, 19, of Zihlman, would plead guilty to the charge.

FBI agents charged him March 30 with demanding $25,000 from Joseph H. Kruson, a retired Frostburg executive.

Edward J. Powers, special agent in charge of the Baltimore FBI Bureau, said the charge was made after Haupt had sent three unsigned letters through the mail demanding $25,000 from Mr. Kruson.

The third letter, which threatened Kruson's life, demanded the money be delivered at 11:30 p. m. on March 29 at the Kaiser Refractories brickyard in Zihlman. FBI agents staked out the brickyard and apprehended Haupt at the pay-off scene.

Friendly Suits Settled Here

Two friendly damage suits stemming from auto accidents this summer have been settled out of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Plaintiff in one of the suits was Mary Ann Wines, daughter of Shelby J. Wines of Charles Town, W. Va. who was a passenger in a car operated by Harry C. Weicht, McCoole, defendant.

On June 9, 1962 the plaintiff was injured when the motor vehicle in which she was riding went out of control on U.S. Route 220 near the end of the bridge in Keyser and hit a telephone pole.

In the other suit, Robert G. Burke son of Charles S. and Claudia M. Burke, Romney, W. Va. was the plaintiff and a passenger in a car operated by Raymond Monk, Greenbelt and owned by Marcus and Alice Monk, also of Greenbelt.

On July 28, 1962 the car was being driven on U.S. Route 50 about six miles southeast of Keyser when it left the highway, hit an embankment and overturned.

Fire Company To Collect Cards

The coin cards, which were distributed several months ago, will be used to maintain present fire equipment and purchase new equipment.

Guard Alerted Here

Headquarters Company, First Medium Tank Battalion, Maryland National Guard, located at the Armory on Brown Avenue, was alerted yesterday at 5:30 p.m. by Captain Jonathan J. Eckhard, company commander. The routine alert was called off later in the evening.

Car Wash Canceled

A car wash planned today by the Young Married Class of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Ridgeley has been canceled due to the cold weather.

More U.S. 40 Projects Will Help Economy

Governor Opens Three Projects

Road improvement projects that are now in the works will help Western Maryland's economy, Gov. J. Millard Tawes said yesterday as he opened three new sections of U. S. 40.

The governor cut a ribbon on Long Hill to open the newly completed projects, totaling 7.36 miles and $2,700,000 in cost.

They include 1.8 miles of dual highway over Long Hill, 2.28 miles from the Washington-Allegany county line to the Town Hill relocation, and 3.28 miles from the top of Polish Mountain east to Fifteen-Mile Creek.

"We are continuing to move forward toward our goal to make a modern highway out of U. S. 40 in Western Maryland," the governor said.

"Within the next few months construction will begin on the important Town Hill relocation and the bridge over Fifteen-Mile Creek.

"I am certain that new Route 40, with its connection to the east of here, going hand in hand with other programs of this administration, will play a major role in revitalizing the economy of the Western Maryland region.

The governor pointed out that the very first contract award under the present highway construction law was for improvement of U.S. 40 on the western slope of Martin Mountain.

The governor commended county officials for their cooperation, and gave a special word of thanks to "Ed Habeeb and the Route 40 Association whose active interest in this highway has been of great help to all of us."

Mr. Habeeb, a florist, appeared with two local young women holding a banner proclaiming "Thank You for a Beautiful Highway — Route 40 Association."

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the State Roads Commission, also predicted that road improvements will help the area's economy.

"Everything that is possible will be done to give Western Maryland a fine highway all the way to the Pennsylvania line," he said.

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, as master of ceremonies for the program, introduced the speakers. The Allegany and Fort Hill high school bands played, and George Walters of Eckhart, chairman of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, gave the invocation and benediction.

Head Injuries Are Cause Of Man's Death

Wesley H. Rudisill Dies In Oakland

Multiple head injuries and shock caused the death of a 79-year-old Hendersonville, N. C., man who was in an auto accident yesterday morning on Third Street in Oakland, authorities said.

He was a passenger in a car being driven north on Third Street by his wife, Mrs. Elsie (Rand) Rudisill who was taking her husband to the hospital after he had become ill earlier in the day while visiting a sister, Miss Ruth Rudisill who lives in Mountain Lake Park.

Police said Mrs. Rudisill, traveling north on Third Street, failed to straighten out the car after passing another northbound vehicle and crashed into a parked truck owned by Paul A. Calhoun, Mt. Lake Park.

Worked For SEC

The accident occurred about 7:15 a. m. and it was foggy at the time, said authorities. Tfc. Donald Tucker of the State Police investigated.

Mr. Rudisill was a consulting engineering analyst for the Securities Exchange Commission about 20 years prior to his retirement.

He designed the power system for the City of Manila in the Philippines during his engineering career and for many years worked in the Orient and Europe as an engineer for the J. G. White Company.

Mr. Rudisill also was a past vice president for Philadelphia Electric in the Coatesville, Pa., district. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Hendersonville and a member of the housing board there.

Was Inventor

Mr. Rudisill, who had a number of inventions patented, was a graduate of Bliss Electrical School, Washington, and did graduate work at Swarthmore (Pa.) College. He was a member of the SAE fraternity at Ohio State University.

He was a past president of the Coatesville Rotary Club and a member of the Elks and Civitan clubs of Hendersonville and of a Masonic lodge in New York.

A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, he was a son of Lewis and Katie (Hopkins) Rudisill. His father was a Methodist minister in Mountain Lake Park for a number of years, and owner of the Mountain Democrat newspaper in Oakland.

Besides his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Walter E. Dawson, Mobile, Ala., and Mrs. William Freihofer, Magate, N. J.

The body is at the Minnich Funeral Home in Oakland, where friends will be received from 7 to 9 p. m. today.

A service will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the Minnich Funeral Home and a private burial service will be held in the Oakland Cemetery.

Man Is Jailed In Fish Charge

A Flintstone area man Thursday was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County jail in default of $59.50 fine and costs when he was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Russell Nierman on a charge of possessing an undersize bass.

Joseph L. Wallizer was arrested by Eugene W. Law, game warden in Allegany County.

City-County Sewage Unit Has Meeting

Members discussed the reasons for forming the commission and its purpose which is to make a study of the sewage needs in the county.

Also discussed was what authority the new commission would have and problems such as financing and public reaction.

A meeting with the Allegany County Sanitary Commission was suggested for purposes of coordination on the sewage study.

Shrine Elects Judge Cobey Oriental Guide

Ali Ghan Member Nearly 22 Years

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey last night was elected oriental guide of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., to serve for the rest of 1962.

Oriental guide is the fourth step below the rank of illustrious potentate. Other elected officers in the Ali Ghan divan are J. Wallace Close, illustrious potentate; Woodward D. Pealer, rabban; C. William Hetzer, Williamsport, assistant rabban and Robert E. Moore, high priest and prophet.

Judge Cobey has been a noble of the Ali Ghan Temple since November 1940. He is a past master of Mountain Lodge 99, A.F. & A.M. in Frostburg.

The new oriental guide has been an associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit since his appointment December 29, 1960, by Governor J. Millard Tawes. He filed in both the Democratic and Republican primaries for a full term as judge and was unopposed. As a consequence he has no opposition in the November 6 general election for a full term.

A former president of the Allegany County Bar Association and former vice president of the Maryland Bar Association, he was city attorney of Cumberland from 1950 until 1952.

Judge Cobey is a member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion; past president of Cumberland Kiwanis Club; a director of Central YMCA; former secretary of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company, former president of the Fidelity Bank of Frostburg, former director of the Second National Bank and member of Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and Frostburg Lodge 470, B.P.O. Elks and the First Presbyterian Church of Frostburg.

GOP Candidate Would Abolish Slot Machines

Small Challenges Tawes To Debate

By The Associated Press

The Republican nominee for state comptroller said Friday night he was in favor of abolishing slot machines in Maryland.

David Champion, who was attending a political rally in Prince Frederick, Md., with other statewide members of the GOP ticket, said he was in agreement with Democratic Gov. Tawes on the issue of slots, but charged that Tawes had reversed himself for political expediency.

Frank Small Jr., seeking election to governor on the Republican ticket, has said he believes slot machines are a local issue to be decided by the counties involved. Until Wednesday, Tawes had maintained a similar position, but reversed himself, apparently to gain the support of his primary opponent David Hume, who polled nearly 120,000 votes in the May election.

In his statement Friday night, Champion said he dared Louis L. Goldstein, his Democratic opponent, to make his position on slots clear. Goldstein is a native of Calvert County, one of the four Maryland counties where the one-arm bandits are legal.

Small Wants Debate

Earlier Friday, Small challenged Tawes to debate the issues of slot machines and savings and loans.

"There are aspects of these issues that the public has a right to know about," said the Republican candidate.

Small claimed there is more to the promise by Gov. Tawes that he will seek to repeal legality of slot machines in four Southern Maryland counties than meets the eye.

"Tawes has demonstrated by his past actions that his promises are not worth much. He broke his promises to school teachers, state employes, organized labor and other groups."

Small said he would like to ask Tawes face to face "some pointed questions about the savings and loan issue, his alleged change of heart on the slot machine issue and other matters."

The reaction over Gov. Tawes' appointment Wednesday of a commission to recommend procedure for outlawing slot machines in Anne Arundel, St. Mary's, Charles and Calvert counties drew mixed reactions within his party as well as out.

Tawes previously had maintained the question of gambling was up to local option.

What About Ponies?

Edward J. Klima, a Democratic commissioner in Anne Arundel County, complained that the governor's stand would reduce the local lawmaking power.

He also said that if slot machines are evil, as Gov. Tawes stated, then "horse race betting also is evil and should be eliminated."

Klima said the loss of state revenue in taxes on horse racing would be equivalent to what the counties will lose if slot machines are outlawed.

Klima estimated Anne Arundel would lose $700,000 a year in direct revenue from slot machines. The state reaps nearly $9 million from horse racing.

Another Democrat, J. Frank Raley, of St. Mary's County said he also opposed abolition of the slots which he estimated produced a quarter of a million dollars for his county. Raley is a former state delegate and is running for the State Senate Nov. 6.

Raley said he has been and will continue to be for more rigid control over the machines and revision of taxation on them.

Eastern Shore Battle

The candidates for the Eastern Shore's seat in the House of Representatives also engaged in an exchange of statements.

Rogers C. B. Morton, the Republican, criticized the incumbent Democrat, Thomas F. Johnson, for missing nine roll calls Thursday.

"This farm program was bitterly opposed by most farmers of Maryland and the nation," stated Morton. "Where was Johnson when the interests of Eastern Shore farmers were at stake?"

Johnson replied that during the farm bill roll call he held a "very fruitful conference" with administration officials for a new half million dollar post office in Cambridge.

The Daily Banner of Cambridge reported Thursday that Johnson had announced Wednesday at a Democratic dinner "you will have new facilities for a post office adequate for Cambridge."

The Banner reported Johnson said the Post Office Department had authorized him to make the announcement.

Driver of the car, authorities said, was Denver Sachs, also of Wiley Ford. The car went out of control and struck a tree, authorities added.

Co-Stars Of New Series Lead To Confusion

To avoid confusion between the co-stars of this new comedy series, it seems best to direct attention to the fact that John Astin, the taller, huskier player with the normal speaking voice, plays Harry Dickens, the married carpenter in "I'm Dickens . . . He's Fenster."

Carol Signs Pact With Old Bosses

Carol Burnett matured into one of TV's greatest stars as a regular member of the Garry Moore variety hour on CBS-TV for three years. Much of the credit for her steady climb to fame goes to Bob Banner Associates, producers of Moore's programs, who helped frame the young comedienne, actress and singer in sketches and songs which displayed her talents to full advantage.

Carol, now parted from Moore's company and strictly on her own, has just signed a long term pact exclusively with CBS-TV to do a number of specials plus guest appearances on regularly scheduled programs.

Adding to the thrill of signing the new contract is the news that Bob Banner Associates have been retained to produce all specials in which she will appear as star.

Co-Stars Of New Series Lead To Confusion

To avoid confusion between the co-stars of this new comedy series, it seems best to direct attention to the fact that John Astin, the taller, huskier player with the normal speaking voice, plays Harry Dickens, the married carpenter in "I'm Dickens . . . He's Fenster."

Carol Signs Pact With Old Bosses

Carol Burnett matured into one of TV's greatest stars as a regular member of the Garry Moore variety hour on CBS-TV for three years. Much of the credit for her steady climb to fame goes to Bob Banner Associates, producers of Moore's programs, who helped frame the young comedienne, actress and singer in sketches and songs which displayed her talents to full advantage.

Carol, now parted from Moore's company and strictly on her own, has just signed a long term pact exclusively with CBS-TV to do a number of specials plus guest appearances on regularly scheduled programs.

Adding to the thrill of signing the new contract is the news that Bob Banner Associates have been retained to produce all specials in which she will appear as star.
